GDP GROWTH FORECAST RETAINED AT 6.5%

RBI maintained India's GDP growth forecast at 6.5% for FY26. "Despite a challenging external environment, economy is navigating a steady growth path with price stability. SCO SUMMIT

Modi set to visit China this month

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

IN a major diplomatic move aimed at recalibrating ties with China, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is expected to visit Tianjin, China from August 31 to September 1 to attend the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit. This marks his first trip to the country since the 2020 Galwan Valley clash that strained India-China relations.

The PM is likely to travel to Japan first for a bilateral meeting. From there, he will fly to China, sources said.

This will be Modi's first visit to China since 2019. His last direct interaction with Chinese President Xi Jinping took place on the sidelines of the BRICS summit in Kazan in October 2024, where both leaders acknowledged the need to stabilise ties and prioritise peace along the Line of Actual Control.

Narendra Modi

"Maintaining peace and tranquillity over the border should remain our priority," Modi had told Xi during that meeting.

Xi, in turn, had emphasised the need for "more communication and cooperation".

The upcoming SCO summit will be held against a complex geopolitical backdrop. India faces intense pressure from the US and other Western partners over its oil trade with Russia.

The summit is expected to focus on terrorism, regional security, and economic cooperation among its 10 member states, including China, Russia, India, Pakistan, and newly joined Belarus.

DOUBLE TRUMP-LE

Trump slaps additional 25% tariff on Indian products, taking the total to 50%; new levy to kick in from Aug 27; Ministry of External Affairs terms it unfair, unjustified

DIPAK MONDAL & JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

US President Donald Trump on Wednesday signed an executive order to double the tariff on Indian goods, taking it to 50%, in response to New Delhi's 'continued purchase of Russian oil'. The additional 25% tariff will kick in from August 27, while the 25% tariff on Indian products announced earlier is scheduled to take effect from August 7.

"India is directly or indirectly importing Russian Federation oil. Accordingly, and as consistent with applicable law, articles of India imported into the customs territory of the United States shall be subject to an additional ad valorem rate of duty of 25%," the executive order read.

The order says any other country importing Russian crude directly or indirectly might face similar fate. However, India seems to have been singled as it has been handed the highest tariff. No other country, apart from Brazil, has got a 50% levy. The tariff on China, which imported $62.6 billion worth of Russian oil in 2024 compared with India's $52.7 billion, is only 34%.

The Trump administration, however, justified the tariffs as part of its broader response to Russia's actions in Ukraine.

India reacted sharply to the tariff action, calling it "unfair, unjustified, and unreasonable." The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said India's energy imports were driven by market realities and national interest. "The United States has in recent days targeted India's oil imports from Russia. We have already made clear our position... our imports are based on market factors and aimed at ensuring energy security for 1.4 billion Indians," said MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal, adding: "India will take all necessary steps to protect its national interests."

TARIFF TRACKER

The additional tariff would not be applicable on goods categorised under Annexure II of April 2, 2025. These goods include metals like steel, copper and other base metals, semiconductor, pharma, etc.

However, this puts India in a disadvantageous position as many ASEAN and Asian economies have much lower tariffs of 15-20%. Analysts expect the higher tariff would result in Indian exports to the US, which is the biggest buyer of Indian goods accounting for 20% goods exports, falling by a massive 40-50% in FY26.

Tariff on India is the peak US levy on any country in the world. The tariff on China, a bigger importer of Russian oil, is just 34%

No idea about US imports from Russia, says Trump

US President Donald Trump said on Wednesday that he was not aware of the fact that the US was importing a number of products including uranium and fertilisers from Russia. "I don't know anything about it. I have to check, but we'll get back to you then," he said in response to a media question about the US imports of fertilisers, uranium, and chemicals from Russia. A few days ago, the MEA had said, "Where the US is concerned, it continues to import from Russia uranium hexafluoride for its nuclear industry, palladium for its EV industry, fertilizers as well as chemicals... In this background, the targeting of India is unjustified and unreasonable."

It is extremely unfortunate that the US should impose additional tariffs on India for actions that several other countries are also taking in their own national interest

New Delhi's diplomacy in action

NSA Ajit Doval is currently in Russia to discuss defence cooperation and energy ties. Doval's visit will be followed by a broader diplomatic engagement with foreign minister S Jaishankar's visit in the third week of August

Goods in transit exempt

The executive order says all Indian imports will face a 25% ad valorem tariff on top of existing duties. The new tariff will take effect after 21 days, on August 27. Goods already in transit before that date will be exempt, if they reach US before September 17

SC seeks detailed ECI response on 65 lakh deletions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday sought a response from the Election Commission of India (ECI) on allegations that it failed to disclose details of 65 lakh voters removed from Bihar's electoral rolls during a Special Intensive Revision (SIR).

A bench of justices Surya Kant, Ujjal Bhuyan and N K Singh issued a notice on an application filed by the Association for Democratic Reforms (ADR). Senior advocate Prashant Bhushan, appearing for ADR, claimed the ECI had not made public the names or reasons behind the deletions in the draft roll published on August 1.

"The draft roll says 65 lakh voters' names have been omitted. They have not given a list of those names. They say people are dead, have migrated... They should disclose who the 65 lakh," Bhushan submitted.

He also questioned whether the deletions were made with proper oversight from Booth Level Officers (BLOs).

Responding, ECI's counsel claimed the draft rolls had indeed been shared with political party representatives as per the laid down procedure.

Justice Kant reminded the ECI of its obligation under its Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) and asked for transparency. "If you have supplied [the list], please give a list of parties to whom you have, so that Bhushan's client can collect information from those authorised representatives," he said.

Reply by Saturday

Bhushan contested the ECI's claim, stating: "They have not conveyed [the data]. Even if some parties have received it, the reasons for deletions were not shared." The court directed the ECI to file its detailed reply by Saturday

K'taka to bring Vemula Bill to end caste discrimination

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE State Cabinet is expected to give its nod to the Karnataka Rohith Vemula (Prevention of Exclusion or Injustice) (Right to Education and Dignity) Bill, 2025, on Thursday.

It is expected to be tabled in the monsoon session of the state legislature starting from Monday. The Bill proposes to safeguard the right to education and dignity for the Scheduled Castes (SC), Scheduled Tribes (ST), Other Backward Classes (OBC) and minorities across all universities in the state including public, private, and deemed universities. It aims to eliminate caste-based discrimination in universities and colleges.

HC Mahadevappa

Speaking to TNIE, Social Welfare Minister HC Mahadevappa said there have been instances where students from backward classes were treated inhumanly. They were given mental torture too. The Bill aims to protect and instill confidence in them. This is applicable for college students in colleges and universities, he said. When asked if this will be extended to pre-university and schools, he said it will be decided in the coming days.

YouTubers attacked, protest in Dharmasthala

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

BURIAL CASE

TENSION prevailed in Dharmasthala after a group of men allegedly attacked a few YouTubers who were covering the ongoing burial case on Wednesday evening.

Sources said the incident occurred at Pangala, near late Sowjanya's residence, when a Big Boss contestant named Rajath visited Sowjanya's house and met the family. The YouTubers had reportedly gone to the spot to interview Rajath, and a group of men arrived and obstructed them. In video footage, they were seen questioning the YouTubers, Ajay Anchan of Kudla Rampage, and a few others for 'misleading' reports on the ongoing investigation into alleged crimes in Dharmasthala.

A verbal spat broke out between them and soon went out of control, and the YouTubers were assaulted by the group and a video camera was damaged. Local police had to cane the crowd to disperse it, and the injured were admitted to hospital in Ujire. Meanwhile, a group of people in support of the injured persons gathered outside the hospital. First draft treaty text by Friday, 'scope' remains contentious in closed-door talks

TNIE in Switzerland
S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA
@ GENEVA

A first consolidated draft text of the global plastics treaty is expected to emerge by Friday as the contact groups work around the clock to bridge entrenched differences. But behind closed doors, the definition of the treaty's "scope" —particularly the interpretation of the "full life cycle of plastics" — remains a flashpoint in negotiations, according to sources privy to Contact Group 1 (CG1) discussions.

Speaking to this newspaper, on the sidelines of an informal meeting with Indian industry representatives on Wednesday, Ambassador Luis Vayas Valdivieso, Chair of the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee (INC), maintained a diplomatic stand when asked whether the definition of the full life cycle was being revisited amid mounting tensions.

GLOBAL PLASTICS TREATY

He replied: "Negotiations are going. You have seen what's happening in the contact group... My job as Chair is to keep the negotiations on track... What the text will say on August 14 is up to the members."

The Chair said he had requested a compiled text by Friday to serve as a working draft, while maintaining momentum in the contact groups.

"We are still negotiating. The idea is to assemble a text with provisions that have a high level of convergence, while continuing informal work on the more difficult issues," he said, emphasising that the treaty must be forward-looking, credible, and flexible.

The stocktake, expected after the release of the draft, will help negotiators assess how far they have come and identify the remaining areas of divergence.

The ambiguity over the scope of the treaty stems from a fundamental disagreement: what constitutes the full life cycle of plastics? CONTINUED ON: P7

Gadag man weaves Op Sindoor gallantry on saree

Weaver Tejappa Chinnur works at his loom, making an 'Operation Sindoor' saree in Gajendragad, Gadag district

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

OPERATION Sindoor, the military action India launched against Pakistan in the wake of the Pahalgam attack, has inspired a line of popular sarees in Gadag district.

The idea to honour Operation Sindoor on a saree is the brainchild of Tejappa Chinnur, a weaver from Gajendragad, and today, many are making a beeline to his address, yearning for the garment. The saree is aesthetically designed, with "Operation Sindoor" printed in bold English against a dark background, with three fighter jets depicting the Tricolour embroidered on its silk border. All this, apart from patterns of ocean waves, are woven using knot technology in the weft.

Historically, Gajendragad is known for its striped-edge sarees, derived from pure cotton yarn, which also earned a GI tag this year. Currently, there are about 400 handlooms here, of which about 200 are involved in producing striped-edge sarees. The new Operation Sindoor sarees also fall in this variety, being made from pure cotton, with a silk border. "In order to strengthen one side of the saree, the threads are hand-picked (piecing) and the warp is prepared and traditional designs are created in the solid saree using traditional knot technology. Another feature is the word "Kannada", inscribed in the Kannada language, woven by twisting," Ashok Ladwa, another weaver, said. The striped-edge silk sarees are priced between Rs 2,000 and Rs 5,000, while the Operation Sindoor sarees particularly start from Rs 4,000, going upwards to Rs 10,000, depending on quality.

For 40 years, Chinnur has carried on the art of handloom weaving, also founding The Gajendragad Weavers Cooperative Producers Association. He will be presented a prize of Rs 20,000 and a memento during the 11th National Handloom Day celebrations in Bengaluru on Thursday.

LBA SYSTEM IN PRIMARY SCHOOLS MUST GO: EXPERTS

Want reinstating CCE for continuous evaluation

GAYATHRI M KURUP
@ Bengaluru

A growing number of teachers and educationists across Karnataka are raising serious concerns about the newly introduced Lesson-based Assessment (LBA) system in primary schools, terming it "unscientific, burdensome, and a violation of the Right to Education Act".

Prominent educationists have strongly opposed the policy and called for its immediate withdrawal, urging the government to reinstate the Continuous and Comprehensive Evaluation (CCE) method instead.

According to experts, LBA requires students to appear for a test after each lesson, amounting to nearly 350–360 tests a year.

"This is not only overwhelming for students but is also severely burdening teachers, who are now forced to spend more time preparing, conducting, evaluating, and uploading data for assessments than actually teaching," said Baraguru Ramachandrappa, noted writer and educationist. "Teachers are not machines. The classroom must be a space for learning, not non-stop testing," he added.

The LBA system, introduced this year by the Department of School Education and Literacy, has drawn criticism not only for increasing the workload of teachers but also for allegedly violating Section 29(2)(h) of the Right to Education (RTE) Act, which mandates a Continuous and Comprehensive Evaluation system for student assessment, according to educationists.

"LBA violates the very essence of what the RTE Act stands for," said Niranjanaradhya VP, an educationist. "CCE was introduced after years of discussions and is now part of law. LBA, on the other hand, forces frequent testing, leaves little time for teaching, and narrows the focus to rote memorisation."

He added that the decision to implement LBA was taken without consulting educators, teachers, or academic experts. "It is a unilateral move. Policies that directly affect children and teachers should go through democratic processes and expert consultation. This has not happened," he said.

The issue, according to several teachers, is not merely about extra workload. Many feel that LBA reduces the classroom to a test centre and disrupts the natural rhythm of learning. "Instead of fostering creativity, critical thinking, and understanding, students are pushed into a cycle of repetitive testing," said a government school teacher.

Educationists argue that well-trained teachers are capable of assessing students effectively through classroom observation, assignments, and regular interactions, without the need for formal tests after every lesson.

They stress that empowering teachers with better training and resources, rather than burdening them with rigid assessment systems like LBA, is crucial for meaningful education. "If you trust teachers, they will deliver," said Niranjanaradhya, adding that the LBA model reflects a lack of trust and disconnect from ground realities.

As the debate continues, educationists remain hopeful that the government will reconsider its decision and return to the CCE system. "We are not against evaluation," said Ramachandrappa. "We are against mindless testing. Let us teach, let children learn. That is what schools are for," he said.

SEP report is comprehensive, says minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HIGHER Education Minister Dr MC Sudhakar on Wednesday announced that the comprehensive State Education Policy (SEP) report for Karnataka is ready, and will be submitted to the state government soon.

The minister was speaking at the foundation laying ceremony of Sri Jayachamarajendra Polytechnic (SJP) campus on Wednesday, where he also laid the foundation stone for a new Government Women's Polytechnic building. Sudhakar said a preliminary review of the report will be held with the School Education Minister and senior department officials before it is presented to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. He added that the SEP is detailed, covering both school and higher education, and will be implemented in a phased and thoughtful manner. He criticised the previous government's approach to the National Education Policy (NEP-2020), claiming it was rushed and implemented only in the higher education sector.

Responding to concerns over delays in hiring guest faculty for Government First Grade colleges, the minister hoped the issue would to be resolved by the end of August. During his visit to the SJP campus, Sudhakar inspected the women's hostel and expressed displeasure over overcrowded rooms, unhygienic toilets, and the use of poor construction materials. He ordered immediate repairs and pulled up officials for negligence. Students raised concerns about food quality, lack of hot water, and cleanliness. The minister directed officials to address these issues and provide non-vegetarian meals weekly.

He also announced that ten new hostels will be built across the state, in partnership with Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU) and the Backward Classes Welfare department. including one at SJP campus.

BWSSB regularises 1,325 illegal connections, nets ₹142.66 crore

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

BWSSB has regularised 1,325 unauthorised sanitary and water connections in its limits by collecting fines and installation fees amounting to Rs 142.66 crore. It launched a drive against unauthorised connections two months ago. During the drive, BWSSB disconnected such connections and issued notices, asking the violators to pay fines and fees towards regularisation.

Officials of the board, who collected data from Bescom, found 43,000 unauthorised sanitary and water connections. They also identified 383 apartment complexes which had taken connections without BBMP approvals.

"When the violators did not pay heed to notices, a team from BWSSB launched a disconnection drive. Action against the violators resulted in the collection of Rs 142.66 crore," an official said.

BWSSB chairman Ram Prasath Manohar earlier stated that the board had identified 383 apartment complexes which had unauthorised sanitary connections. Because of such unauthorised connections, the pressure on the pipes increased, resulting in punctures and leakages.

Maintenance of the sanitary network has become a big challenge for the board because of such unauthorised connections taken by developers and owners of apartment complexes.

The board is expecting Rs 200 crore from errant owners of apartment complexes.

A day after Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar was seen riding a two-wheeler on Hebbal flyover during his inspection, the BJP and JDS trolled Shivakumar and said the two-wheeler has many traffic violation cases registered against it.

JDS, on its official X handle, said a sum of Rs 18,500 has to be paid as penalty for various traffic violations. The video of Shivakumar riding the two-wheeler on Hebbal flyover went viral on Tuesday. The JDS, on its social media platforms, tagged Hebbal Traffic Police and urged it to take action. Following this, police summoned the owner who paid Rs 1,000 and assured police that he would pay the remaining later.

The regional party, stating that the vehicle has more than 34 traffic violation cases against it, urged Shivakumar to stop photo shoots and reels for publicity, and fulfil his responsibilities as a minister. The BJP questioned why there is a separate law for the Deputy CM. "Traffic police should charge additional Rs 500 from Shivakumar for wearing a half-helmet," the party said.

SCHOOL INSPECTION GETS TECH-SAVVY, APP ROLLOUT SOON

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Department of School Education and Literacy will soon roll out a mobile-based school inspection app across all government schools in the state. The app aims to digitise the school inspection process, ensure real-time monitoring and improve data availability for planning and supervision.

Commissioner for Public Instruction, K V Trilok Chandra, said the app will allow field staff to upload information from school visits, including photographs and observations related to physical and academic infrastructure, school functioning and student learning outcomes. "It is primarily intended to ensure that all field staff upload data with photographs during visits, so we can get a comprehensive view of schools across the state," he said.

He clarified that officials will still physically visit schools, but will now be required to upload inspection data on the spot through the app. The department has already completed field trials and a soft launch. A formal launch is expected within the next week.

A government order, dated August 4, has approved the use of the app from the academic year 2025-26.

Data collected through the app will be made available on the Student Achievement Tracking System (SATS) portal, accessible to higher officials through dashboards. The app will also generate single-line inspection reports.

The order stated that training will be provided to officers online and no government funding has been used in developing the app. The department is also expected to issue implementation guidelines and take steps to analyse inspection data at the taluk, district, and state levels.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

07TH August : One of may favourite sayings is 'hope springs eternal'. Today is the perfect day for optimism, for thinking the best about people you know, and making plans for a brighter future. Set the wheel in motion now and we can all deal with the necessary details later, perhaps next week.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You have a tough choice to make, perhaps one that affects you and you alone as much as other people. Whichever side of the fence you come down on, you will open yourself up for a set of very interesting personal experiences. It's also time to take a sober look at a couple of suggestions that you've been treating rather frivolously.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
We have to face the fact that you may not be affected by current circumstances in the same way as other people. It's possible, therefore, that you'll have to watch while partners take the limelight, but not for long. The advantage is that you could be left in peace to get on with your own schemes.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Someone is enchanting you. But, from their point of view, they may be more under your spell than you are under theirs. Whatever the truth of the matter, it seems certain that a meeting of minds is inevitable. And, out of that, could come a new, solid commitment.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You may be on tenterhooks. The obvious response to your concerns is 'relax, it might never happen'. You may find this unsympathetic but then, in more ways than one, you have been here before, haven't you? In fact, and here's a strange twist, what you're thinking about might already have happened - without your noticing!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
It should be particularly easy to express yourself at the moment. Even for those who are not interested in what you have to say, your views will eventually prove to be deeply pertinent, prophetic even. In general, though, you can begin to wind down the pressure in a number of areas.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You are probably spending far too much, not to mention thinking about money more than is really necessary. After a momentary lapse, you may come to realise that your security relies more on emotional contentment than the quantity of coins in your pocket.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Today's planetary formation is like a sort of small birthday shared by everyone born under your sign all at the same time. After a period of contemplation, work out what your top priority is and make a personal wish. Implement whatever you decide without delay.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Forget the real world - it's time for some heavy day-dreaming. If you have chores and responsibilities you really can't shelve, then make whatever time for yourself you can. In love, play it cool - but don't be too fussy. And don't pretend that feelings don't matter!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your charms are definitely coming to the fore again, which will be very useful as far as your long-term interests are concerned. One thing I would say is that you must be prepared to lay out some cash up front if you are pursuing important schemes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There is no reason for any unpleasantness, so don't allow yourself to be easily provoked. Authority needs to be respected and you, in your turn, must exercise power with dignity. There'll be moments when you have to stand back and let partners take first place - it's all in the timing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Although you, and people around you, may be rather edgy, you need to be making stalwart resolutions about where you are going, and how. Travel influences are exceptionally strong, so take the opportunity to develop all overseas and long-distance contacts.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It is inevitable that money will loom large in your consciousness. Some may pick up bargains. Others will make a smart, long-term investment. But remember that if you do have to spend extra cash, it should be on items you need rather than want.

SCHOOL PAIRING POLICY IN UTTAR PRADESH

What is School Pairing?

- "Under this system, schools with low student enrollment are being linked to nearby larger schools." This will improve teacher availability and allow students to access shared facilities like libraries, labs, playgrounds and smart classrooms. The model is being implemented like private schools, where education from pre-primary to higher classes is provided within a single campus.
- As per the policy, schools with fewer than 50 students are being merged with nearby schools. Resources, teacher availability and infrastructure are being integrated to improve the quality of education, reduce dropouts and provide smart classes, libraries and other facilities.

Benefits of School Pairing

- Small schools will be designated for pre-primary, while bigger ones will handle primary/upper primary education
- Students will benefit from more group projects, discussions, sports, arts, and peer learning
- Better use of digital resources, smart classes, libraries, science labs, etc
- Students will learn in a vibrant and competitive educational environment
- More teacher support and scope for innovation

Pairing to Transform Primary Education

- Action underway on complaints from select districts; some schools to continue to operate as before
- Classes to resume in original buildings if student numbers rise
- Schools in geographically challenging areas excluded from the process
- Pairing to ensure availability of a teacher for every class
- Initiative to improve teaching quality, develop children's self-confidence
- Vacant buildings to be utilised for balvatikas (pre-primary classes) and anganwadi centres
- Schools with up to 50 enrolled students must have three appointed teachers

Truths About School Pairing

- Isolation of small schools hampers education quality and administrative efficiency. Paragraph 7.3 of the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 states that small schools hinder teacher collaboration and negatively affect training and teaching
- The school pairing model was also recommended during the Chief Secretaries' Conference in Dharamshala (June 15–17, 2022) and the National Education Summit held in Delhi (December 27–29, 2024)

Advantage for Students and Teachers

- Both students and teachers will benefit. Students will gain from healthy competition, peer learning, group discussions, project work and more cultural and sports events
- There will be a more energetic and activity-based learning environment, improved teacher training and teaching quality, better use of digital education tools and improved discipline and attendance

Vacant Schools to Be Used as 'Bal Vatika

- Anganwadi centers offer education, nutrition and health services to children, pregnant and lactating women. For pre-school education (ages 3–6), proper infrastructure is required
- Under NEP-2020, pre-school education is emphasized. Vacant schools post-pairing will be used as Bal Vatika (Anganwadi centers)
- Joint surveys will be conducted by Block Education Officers and Child Development Officers. If an Anganwadi already exists in the school, it will be used as Bal Vatika
- Only buildings with satisfactory infrastructure - security, drinking water, toilets, play area - will be used
- If an existing Anganwadi center is already functional and well-equipped, it will not be shifted. Similarly, schools in poor condition or far from the Anganwadi center will not be used
- The mapping report will prioritize children's comfort and learning needs. Implementation will be coordinated jointly by the Basic Education and Child Development departments

Problems in Low-Enrollment Schools

Weak and fragmented teaching process

Lack of sports and cultural activities

Lack of motivation among teachers and students

Hindered holistic development of children

Will Schools Be Closed or Teachers Removed?

No school is being shut under the pairing plan

Teacher posts will remain intact

With resource integration, enrollment will increase, and teachers' efficiency and contributions will also grow

Uttar Pradesh's Achievements Towards Quality, Inclusive and Joyful Education

- Operation Kayakalp Implementation of 19 key infrastructure indicators across schools
- DBT (Direct Benefit Transfer) 1200 per student for uniform, bag, and stationery
- NIPUN Schools 48,061 schools declared as NIPUN
- ASER/NAS Reports Significant improvement in the quality of education; Uttar Pradesh ranks among the top 10 states
- Teacher Training Enhancement through Teacher Capacity Building Programme

Siddu govt to play it safe on SC internal quotas

Wary of row over new matrix, govt likely to appoint sub-committee to file report

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

THE Justice HN Nagamohan Das Commission report on internal reservation for Scheduled Castes (SC) is likely to be placed before the Siddaramaiah cabinet on Thursday. Since the report could stoke controversy, the cabinet is likely to play it safe by appointing a cabinet sub-committee to study it and file a report for implementation of the quota, according to sources. "The CM will share copies of the 1,766-page report among cabinet colleagues and suggest they study it and return for a discussion at the next cabinet meeting," a source said.

It is learnt that the commission, in its quota matrix, formed five groups among the 101 SC castes and shared 17 per cent quota among them. It has recommended 6 per cent to SC-Left, 5 per cent to SC-Right, 4 per cent to Bhovi, Lambani, Koracha and Korama, 1 per cent to Adi Karnataka (AK), Adi Dravida (AD) and Adi Andhra (AA) castes, and 1 per cent to about 49 microscopic castes.

During the previous BJP government, the Bommai cabinet had in March 2023, following the report of the cabinet sub-committee headed by JC Madhuswamy, recommended 6 per cent for SC-Left, 5.5 per cent for SC-Right, 4.5 per cent for Bhovi, Lambani, Koracha and Korama castes and 1 per cent for others.

The Bhovi, Lambani, Koracha and Korama communities are likely to feel let down if their quota is reduced in the commission report. But the commission, as per the Supreme Court's instructions, has taken into consideration social backwardness (untouchability against SC-Left and SC-Right), employment in government jobs, among other criteria, based on data it collected from the government and agencies, according to sources.

Despite the commission creating awareness, a considerable number of people have enumerated as AK, AD and AA without going by their original caste, for which another group is formed, allotting them 1 per cent. There may be many flaws because of ignorance of officials or oversight, sources added.

The more populous SC-Left, which was fighting for internal quota for over three decades, is eager to get the report implemented as it could get a fair deal. The SC-Right, being the second largest with adequate political representation, is likely to accept the report regardless of quota allocation, whereas Bhovis and Lambanis may express displeasure, said analysts.

SURPRISE VISIT

Need to increase beds in Victoria hosp, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday paid a surprise visit to government-run Victoria Hospital in Bengaluru and interacted with a few patients. The CM, accompanied by Medical Education Minister Dr Sharan Prakash Patil, is likely to continue with this exercise by visiting government institutions. The CM also visited the Vanivilas Hospital.

Siddaramaiah said that there is a need to increase the capacity of Victoria Hospital.

According to informed sources, the initiative, first of its kind for the CM, is aimed at energising the administrative machinery. After completing two years in office, Siddaramaiah wished to have first hand information on the status of the administration at the grassroots level. "He would pay such visits to the offices in the secretariat and even at district and taluk headquarters," sources added.

Apart from interacting with the patients, Siddaramaiah inquired about the facilities at the hospital and also inspected the quality of food supplied to patients and attendants.

Siddaramaiah said that doctors should treat patients with compassion. "There will be too much pressure on the doctors here. I have told them to be patient. Doctors have been instructed not to accept money from anyone," the CM told reporters. Siddaramaiah said that he paid a surprise visit to the hospital after his tour to Koppal was cancelled owing to bad weather. On the menace of private ambulances, the CM suggested to the patients and attendants to make use of the 108 ambulances of the government.

Siddaramaiah was impressed by the organ transplant facility at the gastroenterology department. "Organ donation costs Rs 30 to Rs 40 lakhs outside. Here it is done for free," the chief minister said.

He promised that the proposal to upgrade the gastroenterology department to a 300-bed facility from the existing 120-bed facility will be considered.

When asked if the patients and attendants complained to him about any difficulties they faced, the CM replied in the negative, saying only a few complained about the admission process. After taking stock of the situation at Vani Vilas Hospital and Trauma Centre, he said that more than 40 deliveries take place daily at the hospital.

What Siddaramaiah missed: Hapless attendants living in the open

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WHILE Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Medical Education Minister Sharan Prakash Patil paid a surprise visit to Victoria Hospital on Wednesday to inspect services, patients and families they came to check on remained neglected and out of reach. The CM walked through wards, met staff and reviewed services, but none of the patients or attendants TNIE spoke to, were approached.

Surrounded by senior medical staff, police and security, the ministers were led through parts of the hospital, including out-patient department, delivery ward and other departments, but attendants waiting outside wards and patients at the OPD and pharmacies, said they weren't allowed anywhere close. "They came and left. When we tried to reach to highlight our plight, we were pushed by the police and security," said Jameel Kareem from Malavalli, who has been attending to his injured mother for the past 12 days.

When TNIE visited the hospital two hours after the CM's surprise visit, dozens of attendants were seated on the ground, on staircases, or under trees. While acknowledging that services inside the hospital are good, many alleged that attendants are neglected. They said they had been living in the hospital for days -- some for over two weeks — eating in the open, using public toilets, and sleeping wherever they could. Many attendants are either sleeping under trees, near ambulances or behind gates in Emergency and Trauma Care and in-patient wards, so they are accessible when there's an emergency. Despite Victoria Hospital having dormitory facilities for attendants, most people did not even know they existed. Some who knew and had asked, were told they were full. "We are outside all day, and security tells us we can't sleep here or there. But where do we go?" Manjunath from Hassan said, pointing out that at night, many caretakers try to sleep near the wards, but hospital security or police routinely ask them to leave, and that they wait awhile and return after they are gone.

Charges for stretcher

Multiple attendants also alleged that hospital staff or helpers often demand Rs 100 to provide a stretcher. "If we don't pay, they just tell us to wait," said Rajendra, who had brought his father from Shivamogga, while others complained of long waiting times, especially in the OPD, and said basic communication from doctors remain missing.

SC QUOTA, TRANSPORT UNION DEMANDS ON CABINET MENU

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Cabinet, scheduled to meet on Thursday, is set to deliberate on several high-priority issues, with the recently submitted Justice HN Nagamohan Das Committee report on SC internal reservation expected to take centre stage.

Apart from this, the long-pending demands of transport unions are also likely to dominate the agenda, particularly in light of recent developments in the Karnataka High Court and the Congress government's pre-poll promises. Government sources indicate that preparations are underway to address both issues comprehensively.

The Justice Nagamohan Das report has drawn significant political attention and may trigger key policy decisions. Simultaneously, transport union demands-linked to employment rights, safety, and financial support-are expected to be revisited as part of the government's manifesto commitments.

The Cabinet is also likely to approve several developmental and welfare initiatives across agriculture, irrigation, education, health, and rural infrastructure sectors. Among the key proposals up for approval are cold storage boost where they will establish 13 cold storage units in the state at a cost of Rs 172 crore to help farmers store crops during market slumps. The move follows recent incidents such as the mango price crash, where rates fell to Rs 2 per kg. The other is irrigation works, where projects worth over Rs 440 crore are to be discussed, including Rs 220 crore for filling 111 dry tanks in drought-hit Haveri, Rs 17 crore for lift irrigation in Bagalkot, Rs 50 crore to modernise Kattemalwadi irrigation project, Rs 90 crore for the Harangi right bank canal, and Rs 65 crore for the Hemavati left bank canal.

Administrative approval is expected for Rs 40 crore to upgrade Backward Classes hostels with new cots and mattresses. Also, a proposal to provide 11,000 electric mobile food kiosks to unemployed youth from backward classes at a cost of Rs 33 crore is expected to get cabinet nod. The cabinet may approve new hospitals in Kittur (Belagavi) and Molkalmuru (Chitradurga) at a combined cost of Rs 120 crore, and a 100-bed cancer hospital in Bidar at Rs 36 crore. Proposals for education and minority welfare include starting 15 girls' hostels for minority students (Rs 87 crore) and revising rules to support minority-run technical education programmes. Several large gram panchayats are also likely to be upgraded to town municipal councils.

Rohith Chakravarthi Vemula, a PhD scholar at University of Hyderabad died of suicide in 2016. He was known for raising issues of caste injustice, Dalit rights on the campus. The university had stopped his stipend as he was involved with Amebedkarite Students Association, fighting for the rights of Dalits. He was suspended, after which he committed suicide.

Earlier this year, Rahul had written to CM Siddaramaiah urging the state government to bring the Bill. Siddaramaiah had stated: "Our government stands firm in its resolve to enact the Rohith Vemula Act to ensure no student faces discrimination based on caste, class, or religion. We will bring this legislation at the earliest to honour the dreams of Rohith, Payal, Darshan, and countless others who deserved dignity, not exclusion," he stated.

DHARMASTHALA CASE

THE Special Investigation Team (SIT) on Wednesday conducted exhumation at spot 14, where human remains were found on Monday in connection with the Dharmasthala mass burial case, but found nothing there.

A team of SIT officials also visited Dharmasthala gram panchayat and collected documents related to officials and other staff who worked there between 1995 and 2014, the period during which the witness-complainant claimed to have allegedly buried bodies illegally.

Spot 14, where human remains, including a skull, saree and men's slippers were found on the surface below a tree on August 4, is around 80 metres away from Spot 11. The spot where human remains were discovered accidentally, when the complainant was taking SIT officials to a fresh spot, has been marked as Spot 14, which is subsidiary to Spot 11. Meanwhile, an unnatural death report (UDR) case has been registered at Dharmasthala police station in connection with human remains recovered on August 4.

Of the 13 spots shown by the witness-complainant in the case, exhumation has already been completed in 12 spots and human remains were found only at Spot 6 on July 31. On August 5, the SIT had dug Spot 11 and 12, but found no remains.

Meanwhile, exhumation is pending at Spot 13, identified by the whistleblower.

The SIT is likely to conduct an expert survey before proceeding with exhumation. Sources in the SIT told The New Indian Express that SIT chief DGP Pronab Mohanty, who is in Belthangady to oversee the exhumation, is likely to take expert opinion due to multiple electricity lines and proximity of the spot to the main road. Sources said that apart from manual digging, use of the Ground Penetrating Radar (GPR) system and drone-mounted radars are also under consideration.

DIG MN Anucheth inspected Spot 13 on Wednesday afternoon. The spot is located close to the main road in the vicinity of the Nethravathi bathing ghat in Dharmasthala village. DGP Mohanty held a meeting with the SIT team at their Belthangady office.

SOURCES said a private news channel reporter was allegedly manhandled by a group outside the hospital.

A protest also broke out outside Dharmasthala police station, with the protesters raising slogans condemning conspiracies against the holy town. They claimed they are not against the probe but alleged some YouTubers were tarnishing the image of the temple. Dakshina Kannada SP Dr Arun K visited Dharmasthala station and deployed police at the spot. "A case is being registered in connection with the assault on YouTubers and damage to their two vehicles, and another assault on a private news channel reporter. Another case is being registered against the illegal gathering at Pangala where a lathicharge took place, in front of Dharmasthala police station and the hospital premises. A preliminary oral report from the hospital stated that the victims of assault had not sustained any serious injury. Videos of the incidents will be verified," he said.

Big Boss contestant Kirik Keerthi said he had visited the SIT office and lodged a complaint against a few YouTubers for misleading reports.

Cong gears up for 'vote fraud' protest, says Centre shouldn't run away from discussing SIR

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE Congress is preparing to hold a massive public protest in Bengaluru on Friday over alleged electoral fraud in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

The Grand Old Party has trained its guns on the controversial Special Intensive Revision (SIR) linked to what it called large-scale voter deletions in Bihar and alleged irregularities in voter additions in Maharashtra.

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who is also Karnataka Congress chief, held a meeting with CM Siddaramaiah and and other senior leaders ahead of the protest in which senior party leaders, including LoP in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, will be present. "Rahul Gandhi will arrive by 10:30 am for the protest in Freedom Park against vote theft on Friday. Our leaders will lay evidence of vote theft before the Election Commission of India. I will not discuss the details now. I would like at least 50 leaders from each constituency in the state to participate. This is to send a message to the nation. Remember INDIA bloc meeting was held here," Shivakumar said.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in conversation with Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar at KPCC office in Bengaluru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

Meanwhile, Congress Rajya Sabha MP Dr Syed Naseer Hussain accused the Centre of evading scrutiny on what he termed a grave assault on democracy. "We are raising the same questions that the Supreme Court has raised. In one state, they win elections by adding voters; in another, they win by deleting them. The government should not run away from discussing the SIR with lame excuses saying it is before the court. Surely nothing prevents us from discussing it," he said.

Karnataka Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre charged that lakhs of voters were added within three months in Maharashtra, with disproportionately high additions in constituencies won by BJP. "In Bihar, SIR has reportedly been used to delete lakhs of voters under the guise of cleansing electoral rolls — a move which is a cover for political manipulation... in Bangalore Central constituency, too, there was manipulation," he said.

AICC General Secretary KC Venugopal hit out at the BJP, saying, "The Centre is evading urgent scrutiny on their devious SIR agenda. It is mass-scale voter deletion. We demand that they justify why they are carrying out this exercise to cripple democracy. We demand discussion, not deletion." The BJP has claimed that the matter is sub judice and cannot be debated in Parliament. However, Congress has rebutted this, pointing to former Vice-President Jagdeep Dhankhar's recent ruling allowing discussions on the matter, contrary to an earlier Lok Sabha ruling by Balram Jakhar which the BJP is citing.

AICC President Mallikarjun Kharge, who is also LoP in Rajya Sabha and Rahul have held strategic meetings with floor leaders of opposition parties. It has been agreed that the SIR issue will be taken up as a top priority in Parliament.

BJP MLAs accused officials of manipulating tender process

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE High Court of Karnataka on Wednesday stayed further proceedings against energy minister KJ George, Bescom MD Mahantesh Bilagi and another official in the case pertaining to a special court directing the Lokayukta police to submit a report on a private complaint filed by three BJP MLAs over the alleged irregularities in inviting tenders for supply of smart meters.

Justice MI Arun passed the interim order staying the proceedings till August 20 and issued notice to the complainants after hearing the petitions filed by George, Bilagi and another Bescom official questioning the legality of the order passed by the special court.

Their counsel argued that the order passed by the special court is against the law as no prior sanction was obtained from the competent authority to prosecute the petitioners, who are public servants, as mandated under Section 17A of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

The complainants, MLAs Ashwath Narayan CN, SR Vishwanath and Dheeraj Muniraj, approached the Lokayukta police on April 21. Before the Lokayukta police initiated action, the complainants filed a private complaint before the special court, which registered it for offences under the provisions of BNS and the Prevention of Corruption Act.

It was alleged that George and the Bescom officials manipulated the tender process for supply and installation of smart meters, causing wrongful loss to the exchequer and wrongful gain to a third party contractor, M/s Rajashree Electricals.

It was also alleged that the tender was undervalued, prequalification criteria were diluted, and statutory procurement norms under the Karnataka Transparency in Public Procurement Act and government orders were violated to favour a pre-selected vendor. Even before filing the complaint, a representation was submitted to the Lokayukta police, followed by a reminder on May 23.

Subsequently, the petitioners wrote to the Governor on July 15 seeking sanction under Section 17A of the Prevention of Corruption Act. Despite the matter pending before the Lokayukta and the Governor, the complainants approached the special court in undue haste, it was alleged.

Behind bars, convicts use WhatsApp to extort undertrial inmates

RAKSHITH GOWDA @ Bengaluru

THERE have been several incidents of inmates being caught using mobile phones in Bengaluru Central Prison. Now, convicted inmates are running extortion rackets from behind bars, raising serious questions about the effectiveness of restrictions on mobile phone usage inside the prison.

A source told TNIE that convicts, especially rowdy-sheeters, are targeting undertrial inmates who are about to secure bail. They collect the phone numbers of these inmates and, once they are out on bail, the convicts call them via WhatsApp from prison to extort money by issuing death threats and harassing them.

The convicts allegedly instruct them to transfer money through UPI to multiple bank accounts belonging to their relatives. The relatives then deliver the cash to the prison to help maintain the convicts' lavish lifestyle behind bars. The extortion racket came to light after Arul Kumar (36), who is out on bail in a drug case, filed a complaint with the CCB. He accused convicts Harshith and Gangaraju—serving sentences in a rape case—and another individual, Likith, of receiving extorted money via UPI transactions on their behalf to multiple accounts. Others named in the FIR include Nelson Sawan alias Bablu, Viji alias Guru, Chetan, and Shankar, who were allegedly running the racket.

The FIR further stated that Chetan, an under trial prisoner in a murder case, was allegedly extorting money through his relative Lokesh Rao. Another rowdy-sheeter, Shekhar, was also found to have received money.

A CCB officer said the mobile numbers mentioned in the FIR will be verified, and their transaction history will be traced. The amount is between Rs 5,000-Rs 15,000 and that a letter has been sent to the banks seeking account details.

27-year-old woman dies after C-section, family stages protest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ALLEGING medical negligence, the family of a 27-year-old woman who died two days after giving birth staged a protest outside a private hospital in Bengaluru on Wednesday.

The deceased, Tanushree, a native of Mandya, was admitted to the hospital located on Konankunte Cross on Sunday for her delivery. Her family said doctors had initially assured them it would be a normal delivery. However, on Monday morning, they were informed that a caesarean section was required. Tanushree gave birth to a healthy baby boy later that day.

Soon after the surgery, the family noticed that Tanushree was bleeding from her nose and appeared weak. Her condition continued to deteriorate, and she died on Wednesday morning. "The hospital authorities never told us it would be a C-section. They pushed for surgery on Monday morning without a proper explanation. We were not even informed of her death; they gave us the bill of Rs 1.5 lakh first," a relative said.

3 held for arson in Halasuru over rivalry

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Hamit Tabrez; Ijhar Pasha; Maksud Ahmad

THE Halasuru police have arrested three men for setting fire to 10 two-wheelers, seven bicycles, a van, and some shops, after dousing them in petrol. The incident was reported near the Kaliyamman Temple around 3.30 am on July 28, over an old rivalry.

The arrested have been identified as Maksud Ahmad (26), who has criminal cases against him in KG Halli police station; Ijhar Pasha (24); and Hamit Tabrez (26). All three are residents of DJ Halli.

According to police, a few months ago, Ahmad, who was then a vegetable vendor on Bazaar Street in Halasuru, shifted his residence to DJ Halli. While living in Halasuru, he was publicly assaulted by two locals, Fahad and Sarfuddin, who are currently in jail in connection with a murder case. Humiliated, Ahmad held a grudge and decided to take revenge. He also wanted to reassert his influence in Halasuru and send a message to the accused about his dominance.

On July 28, a drunk Ahmad and two of his accomplices set fire to vehicles and the shutter doors of some grocery and vegetable shops, which were damaged. A CCTV camera captured the arson, where the accused were seen covering their faces with towels, the police said.

The police added that two separate cases were registered. After analysing CCTV footage and technical evidence, they arrested all three accused, and DCP (East) D Devaraj said rowdy sheets will be opened against them.

SC lifts HC ban on 'Ungaludan Stalin' scheme

Slams ₹10l fine on AIADMK MP Shanmugam, terms the plea 'totally misconceived'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday quashed the Madras High Court's interim order that restrained the Tamil Nadu government from using Chief Minister MK Stalin's name and image in the 'Ungaludan Stalin' (With You, Stalin) welfare outreach programme.

Terming the plea by AIADMK MP C Ve Shanmugam "totally misconceived" and an abuse of process of law, the apex court imposed a Rs 10 lakh fine on him, to be paid to the state within a week.

A three-judge bench led by Chief Justice of India BR Gavai, and comprising Justices K Vinod Chandran and NV Anjaria, said the practice of naming welfare schemes after political leaders is common across the country, and selectively challenging one such scheme reflects political motive rather than genuine concern.

"We do not appreciate the anxiety of the petitioner to choose only one political party and one political leader," the bench observed. "If the petitioner was so concerned about the misuse of public funds, he could have challenged all such schemes."

The court noted that even during the AIADMK's tenure, many schemes were branded after late chief minister J Jayalalithaa as "Amma" initiatives. Senior advocates Mukul Rohatgi and Abhishek Manu Singhvi, appearing for the DMK and the state government respectively, cited similar schemes in support of their case.

Setting aside the Madras High Court's July 31 order, the Supreme Court said: "Political battles must be fought before the electorate, not in courtrooms." The top court also dismissed the writ petition pending in the High Court, transferring the case to itself and declaring the challenge legally untenable.

42% BCs QUOTA

Pass BC quota bills or Rahul will be next PM, Revanth tells Modi

Telangana Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy and other Congress leaders at the party's Porubata protest at Jantar Mantar in New Delhi on Wednesday

TELANGANA Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy on Wednesday declared that Leader of the Opposition of Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi will be elected Prime Minister in 2029 if Prime Minister Narendra Modi fails to approve the reservation bills passed by the Telangana Legislature, enhancing quotas for the Backward Classes (BCs) to 42% in education, employment and political representation.

"Gandhi's word is an inscription; implementing it is my responsibility," he said. Reddy was speaking at Porubata, a protest held at Jantar Mantar in Delhi, where over 50 MPs from the INDIA bloc, including NCP MP Supriya Sule, DMK MP Kanimozhi Karunanidhi and other leaders, expressed solidarity.

Taking to X, Gandhi said, "This fight is not just for Telangana, but for the entire country. It is a collective fight to ensure that Indians from marginalised communities have their rightful share in power and progress."

The protest saw strong backing for the Telangana BCs (Reservation of Seats in Rural and Urban Local Bodies) Bill, 2025, and the Telangana BCs, SCs and STs (Reservation of Seats in Educational Institutions and of Appointments or Posts in the Services Under the State) Bill, 2025, both awaiting presidential assent. The Telangana Panchayat Raj (Amendment) Ordinance, which seeks to repeal a cap on quotas, is also pending with President Droupadi Murmu.

Stating that BCs have been at the end of receiving injustice for ages, NCP MP Supriya Sule compared Revanth to former Tamil Nadu chief minister M Karunanidhi, praising his historic move to enhance BC reservations. Recalling their first meeting in Lok Sabha, she said, "He (Revanth) had vowed to bring Congress to power, and he did."

At the protest, Revanth launched a direct attack on Modi and the BJP-led NDA government, accusing them of stalling the BC reservation bills passed four months ago. "We're not asking for land from Gujarat or water from Porbandar. We're asking for 42% reservation for our weaker sections," he said. "Why does this give Modi heartburn?"

22-yr-old held for raping 5-yr-old in B'gavi mosque

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

A 22-year-old man was arrested by the police on Wednesday on charges of raping a five-year-old girl in a mosque at Yaragatti in Belagavi. The alleged offence took place in 2023. The accused is Tufelahmad Dadapeer Nagarchi (22). The police action comes in the wake of a video posted on X by an activist, Puneeth Kerehalli on August 5.

According to Belagavi Superintendent of Police Bhimashankar Guled the video, allegedly of a CCTV footage from inside the mosque on October 5, 2023, shows the accused taking the girl inside the mosque and later, allegedly, raping her.

The SP said when the police met the girl's parents they refused to lodge a complaint. The parents decided not to pursue the matter at the time of the incident after holding discussions with the elders in their community in the village, said the SP.

When the cops from Murgod police station met the parents at Yaragatti, they still refused to register any complaint.

The police have registered an FIR based on a complaint from an anganwadi worker. The SP said the police will use the video clip as a record in the case. Since the incident occurred in 2023, a case has been filed against the accused under various sections of the CrPC and Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, said the SP.

On X, Kerehalli posted that "On October 5, 2023, an incident of rape of a minor girl took place in a mosque at Yaragatti and the father of the victim is seeking justice. However, the people in the mosque prevented him from filing a complaint. I request you to initiate immediate action and ensure justice to the girl."

CLOSURE OF JAN AUSHADHI KENDRAS

Min says it aims to strengthen free medicine supply

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao, in a letter to Union Health Minister Jagat Prakash Nadda, defended the State Government's decision to shut down Jan Aushadhi Kendras operating within government hospital premises, saying it aims to strengthen the free medicine supply system in public healthcare institutions and reduce out-of-pocket expenditure for patients.

In the letter, Dinesh said that the move was intended to avoid any possibility of patients being referred to Jan Aushadhi outlets for essential medicines, which are otherwise provided free of cost in state-run hospitals. The minister added that the State Government has ensured free supply of all essential medicines as per the Essential Medicines List in all government healthcare institutions and that hospitals are also empowered to locally procure medicines in case of shortages using allocated funds.

Responding to the Union Ministry's concerns over access to affordable drugs, Dinesh clarified that Jan Aushadhi Kendras are free to function outside hospital campuses, and that citizens may still choose to purchase medicines from them if they wish. "The state's direction to its doctors to prescribe only the medicines available in government stock is part of efforts to streamline delivery and ensure patients are not denied medication at any level," he explained.

According to the minister, Karnataka currently has over 1,417 Jan Aushadhi Kendras with only 184 located within government hospital premises. "The decision to close Jan Aushadhi Kendras within government hospitals is not a restriction on the scheme itself," he said.

While highlighting the state's support for the Pradhan Mantri Bhartiya Janaushadhi Pariyojana (PMBJP), he requested the Union Government to direct the Pharma and Medical Bureau of India to supply medicines to the Karnataka health department at the same rates offered to Jan Aushadhi Kendras. "This would go a long way in supporting the free drug supply programme in state-run hospitals," he said.

'Negotiators have diverged sharply over its interpretation'

WHILE UNEA Resolution 5/14 — the original mandate for the treaty — calls for addressing plastic pollution "through a comprehensive approach that addresses the full life cycle", negotiators have diverged sharply over its interpretation.

A briefing by the Center for International Environmental Law (CIEL) says that the lack of a legally defined scope has allowed some countries (petro countries) to push for a narrower definition — focusing mainly on downstream waste management — while excluding the upstream stages of raw material extraction, monomer production, and polymerization. However, scientific consensus affirms that the plastics life cycle begins with fossil fuel extraction and runs through polymer production, use, disposal, and environmental leakage.

Plastic polymers, which form the backbone of all plastic materials, are produced through highly polluting processes. According to the CIEL brief, 99% of plastic polymers are fossil-based, and their production already accounts for up to 14% of oil demand — a number set to rise in coming years.

Moreover, these polymers are directly linked to the release of toxic chemicals and microplastics that affect both environmental and human health. Critically, many of these polymers — especially polyethylene, polypropylene, PET, and polystyrene — are derived from a small group of monomers like ethylene and propylene, over 90% of which are used solely for plastics. Excluding these from the treaty's control mechanisms could undermine the goal of ending plastic pollution altogether.

THE Karnataka Government issued orders on Wednesday, replacing the currently-used slouch hats with navy blue peak caps for police constables and head constables in the state.

At the recent Senior Police Officers' Annual Conference, the state police had proposed green berets for constables. However, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah felt that the green berets resembled those worn by home guards and members of the Scouts and Guides, and suggested opting for blue peak caps instead.

The new design is modelled on the Telangana Police cap, chosen after reviewing cap styles from several states, including Maharashtra, Delhi, Goa, and Tamil Nadu.

"The slouch hat has been part of the constabulary uniform since the British era, but many officers find it outdated and uncomfortable," said a senior IPS officer, adding that it was a long-standing proposal.

The government has also ordered to initiate tender process to procure peak caps for the police personnel.

NISAR COULD'VE SAVED LIVES IN U'KHAND CLOUDBURST

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

HAD the July 30-launched NASA-ISRO Synthetic Aperture Radar (NISAR) satellite been operational now, several lives would have been saved through evacuation ahead of the killer cloudburst and flash floods that almost wiped out Dharali village in Uttarkashi district of Uttarakhand on Tuesday afternoon.

The 2,393 kg NISAR's unique dual-band synthetic aperture radar (SAR) will employ advanced, novel SweepSAR technique, to provide high resolution and large swath imagery, and will scan the entire globe to provide all-weather, day & night data at 12-day intervals. NISAR can detect even small changes in the Earth's surface such as ground deformation, storm characterization, ice sheet movements and sea ice classification, changes in soil moisture, mapping & monitoring of surface water resources, vegetation dynamics, shoreline monitoring and disaster response.

NISAR, carrying the dual-band SAR involving L- & S-Band SAR, is a global, microwave imaging satellite capable of acquiring fully polarimetric and interferometric data. While the S-band radar system, data handling and high-speed downlink system, the spacecraft and the launch system are developed by ISRO, the L-band radar system, high speed downlink system, the solid-state recorder, GPS receiver, the 9-metre boom hoisting the 12-metre unfurlable reflector, are delivered by NASA.

A senior official from the regional centre of ISRO's National Remote Sensing Centre – which will collect the S-Band data that NISAR's radar will capture and relay – said, "Although our work of analyzing the satellite images will increase, getting accurate advance information will be crucial. While the existing satellites and various government departments do share advanced information and alerts, the NISAR data will be several steps ahead. It will share better quality and high resolution images of the same location – irrespective of weather and sunshine – of the same location, twice every 12 days. This will help in knowing dangers and issuing alerts to the district and village administrations in advance."

The objective of the $1.5 billion NISAR mission is to provide information that will help in disaster management, infrastructure improvement, responding to climate changes and avert casualties. It will start relaying satellite images captured from the sun-synchronous polar orbit 90 days after it launched. In these 90 days, the NISAR mission is being dedicated to commissioning, or in-orbit checkout (IOC), to prepare NISAR for science operations. Commissioning is divided into sub-phases of initial checks and calibrations of mainframe elements followed by NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) engineering payload and instrument checkout. NISAR's science operations phase will begin at the end of commissioning and will extend till the end of its five-year mission life.

The NASA's Alaska Satellite Facility Distributed Active Archive Centre will handle 85 terabytes data on a daily basis, NASA's JPL will receive 35 terabyte, ISRO's NRSC Shadnagar centre will receive eight terabyte of data, while India's Antarctica Centre will receive crucial data on a daily basis.

The NISAR will bring in better understanding and better quality of data, which will be crucial in averting tragedies. The NISAR information can also be superimposed on the data and the images obtained from other sources for even better understanding and implementation, the NRSC official said.

Rajesh NL, Director, Karnataka State Remote Sensing and Application Centre (KSRSAC), said the information on the soil moisture to the depth of 10-15cms will help understand and analyse how predicted rainfall could impact existing locations, which in turn will help in issuing advance warnings to prevent casualties or even crop loss.

Prof Sekhar Muddu, Department of Civil Engineering, Indian Institute of Science (IISc), said there is a list of vulnerable places prone to landslides and other disasters. Now when the soil moisture saturation, density of clouds and the wind flow information with exact geo-coordinates will be available (through NISAR), then better planning and management can be done, considering technological interventions and identification of weak spots ahead of time are essential.

Experts: Continuous monitoring needed to avert landslides

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WHILE technological interventions and continuous relaying of information can help avert tragedies, experts point out that it is also imperative to have a dedicated team of people to continuously monitor and analyse data.

Experts point out that there are multiple government and private agencies working, but there is a lack of coordination. There is also a major lack of scientific input across the country. Prof GL Sivakumar Babu, Geotechnical Engineering Division, Civil Engineering Department, IISc, said there is a need to create a group of people who will be dedicated to studying the same.

Stability in data management and working is needed. Government officials are posted for a short duration, and they lack the expertise. The government should consider investing in such long-term interventions rather than focusing more on compensation and loss mitigation, he said.

Experts pointed out that there is a growing need to invest more in technology. Prof Sajeev Krishnan from the Centre for Earth Sciences, IISc, said that landslides are more likely to occur in the Western Ghats because of the steep slopes. Thus, areas like Coorg, Mangaluru, Idukki and Goa are vulnerable. Similar is the case with the Himalayan regions in India, where the slopes are steeper.

Another expert geologist, working with the government, said, "One of the prime reasons for landslides to occur is the lack of creation of a small drainage system in the hills when they are cut for civil works. This is the basic mistake which is being consistently made, apart from the improper cutting of the slopes. It is common sense to understand that when a terrain is cut or drilled, you are making the region vulnerable to tragedies. Putting pipes to drain out water from the saturated soil during monsoon is one simple solution which has been suggested but not followed. Another crucial negligence is not undertaking regular carrying capacity studies. Each time a terrain is altered, the carrying capacity and environmental impact change. Thus, a dedicated team to study all this regularly is needed."

An official from the Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre said a simple method of averting tragedies is not to undertake any construction or repair works during monsoon. They should be completed and tested before monsoon, but how projects are approved, executed and how tenders are released, inadvertently works are undertaken during monsoon, making areas more vulnerable to tragedies.

RBI KEEPS POWDER DRY TO RESPOND TO TARIFF TURMOIL

THE RBI's Monetary Policy Committee has left the key policy rates unchanged. Even though retail inflation touched a six-year low of 2.1 percent in June, the central bank did not see the need to reduce the rates further. As a result, they remain above the pre-pandemic levels, while the real interest rate adjusted for inflation is at 2-3 percent, well above the desired 1.5-2 percent. Analysts, however, reason that Wednesday's decision—a calibrated pause while maintaining the policy stance at 'neutral'—allows the central bank flexibility to respond to unforeseen challenges. As Governor Sanjay Malhotra explained, geopolitical tensions and global trade uncertainties pose significant downside risks to growth and inflation. So, the decision to pause allows options to respond in more turbulent times. Moreover, the cumulative 1 percentage point rate cuts announced earlier are yet to filter through the credit system and the broader economy.

Despite the pause, some believe that the rate easing cycle is alive and kicking, thanks to RBI's liquidity measures. By providing adequate and timely liquidity, the central bank is ensuring that banks and financial institutions transmit the 100-basis-point cuts to borrowers. Meanwhile, headline inflation is expected to edge up in Q4, though the overall 2025-26 print will likely settle at 3.1 percent, lower than the targeted 4 percent for the first time in at least three years. That said, inflation is expected to rise again to 4.9 percent in Q1 of 2026-27 driven by the base effect. The higher trade tariffs announced by the US later on Wednesday could fuel inflation and hit India's growth prospects, which puts the MPC's decision to preserve its ammunition in perspective. A neutral stance retains policy firepower to respond with rate changes in the event of further global shocks.

As for GDP growth, the RBI kept the 2025-26 estimate unchanged at 6.5 percent, suggesting that it remained optimistic about domestic economic resilience amid global headwinds. However, Donald Trump's later announcement of raising tariffs on Indian goods to 50 percent may prompt a recalibration, as they would sharply affect exports and the manufacturing sector. Then there could be untold dangers if the global financial conditions freeze—another reason for the RBI to remain cautious. Though the market expects at least another 25-basis-point cut in 2025, much will depend on global trade retrenchment, domestic demand softening, and the rupee's trajectory.

HIROSHIMA ANNIVERSARY: HEED MAHATMA'S ADVICE

EIGHTY years since Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan became synonymous with the nuclear holocaust that killed an estimated 1.1 lakh civilians instantly, the world is not even trying to engage in disarmament talks. Instead, big powers are deploying nuclear arsenals at whim. Last week, Donald Trump repositioned two nuclear submarines around Russia after Vladimir Putin's proxy Dmitry Medvedev used incendiary language in his pushback against intense American pressure to end the invasion of Ukraine. Medvedev asked Trump to remember how dangerous the fabled 'Dead Hand' can be, a reference to a semi-automated Soviet-era command system designed to launch nuclear missiles if the Russian leadership is eliminated. Russia retaliated to the positioning of US submarines and Nato's missiles in Germany by calling off its moratorium on deployment of intermediate-range nuclear-capable missiles. As it is, the Doomsday Clock—founded in 1947 to annually warn how close the world is to self-destruction—moved closer than ever to a planet-wide catastrophe in January, 89 seconds to midnight. Going by the current trend, the clock could advance further in the next iteration.

It was rich of Trump to lecture Medvedev on the importance of words, saying they could lead to unintended consequences, given his own history of loose talk. Sample this: after the US bombarded three nuclear sites in Iran in June, degrading its ability to build a bomb at least in the short run, he insensitively drew a parallel between the Iran operation and the Hiroshima and Nagasaki blasts—thus normalising them—claiming both ended wars, drawing an avalanche of protests. In May, when India called Pakistan's nuclear-bluff as part of Operation Sindoor to avenge the Pahalgam terror strike, Trump claimed credit for averting a nuclear war—annoying New Delhi and harming the bilateral trade talks.

Violence in any form is reprehensible, more so when it involves weapons of mass destruction. India's doctrine of 'no first use' implies a massive nuclear retaliation to a first strike to inflict unacceptable damage on the enemy. It has served the country well so far. As Mahatma Gandhi said, "The atomic bomb has deadened the finest feeling that has sustained mankind for ages." Hatred can be overcome by love and not counter-hatred, he moralised. His preaching of non-violence is relevant more than ever today.

QUICK TAKE

ADVERTISE QUAKE SUSCEPTIBILITY

THE ongoing effort to zoom into the nation's seismically prone zones and outline microzones is welcome. The government told the Lok Sabha that it has covered a dozen cities including Delhi, Chennai, Bengaluru, Kolkata, Coimbatore and Mangaluru in this effort; eight more cities are being mapped with data gathered by the National Centre for Seismology. More crucially, the state and national disaster management authorities are now expected to conduct awareness campaigns in the prone regions to promote quake-resistant design requirements laid out by the Bureau of Indian Standards. It should be mandatory for all housing companies to mention in their ads the level of hazard at their sites. That would make the government's substantial efforts really effective.

Trump seemingly wants to use peace parleys with Russia to avoid punitive sanctions on its oil. With his trade demands resembling brigandage, India should call off the talks

HOW AN EQUATION IN MOSCOW AFFECTS CALCULUS IN DELHI

M K BHADRAKUMAR
Former diplomat

US President Donald Trump's special envoy for Russia, Steve Witkoff, predicted in an interview last weekend that it would be a success if a settlement of the Ukrainian conflict is achieved by the end of the presidential term in January 2029. The remark signals Washington's belated awareness that it is futile to press Russia to compromise on its vital national interests.

Witkoff was talking to the media after a 2-month silence during which General Keith Kellogg, Trump's hawkish special envoy for Russian-Ukrainian settlement, dominated the diplomatic arena advocating a tough stance towards Moscow. The Kellogg line peaked with Trump's July 14 announcement of a 50-day deadline to Russia to end the war. A fortnight later, Trump said that Russia had "10 days from today" to end its war.

The week since then witnessed a breathtaking cascade of US-Russia tensions characterised by some calibrated brinkmanship—transfer of US nuclear weapons to the UK for the first time in 17 years; belligerent posturing vis-à-vis the Russian nuclear base of Kaliningrad; and deployment of US nuclear submarines near Russia.

Last Friday, the Russian response came with the stunning announcement by President Vladimir Putin on the deployment of Oreshnik, the intermediate-range hypersonic ballistic missile with multiple warheads and a speed exceeding Mach 10 (12,300 km/h) against which the West, including the US, has no defence. The Russian foreign ministry followed through last night with a historic announcement on lifting of Moscow's moratorium on the deployment of intermediate-and shorter-range missiles as a new reality in strategic balance in the face of "a growing number of facts indicating the emergence of US-made weapons in a variety of regions around the globe including the regions that are of particular national security importance for Russia".

Trump, who killed the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty in 2019, no longer has space left to hide from the humiliating defeat that Nato faces in Ukraine and the bleak future for the US's European allies having to live under the shadow of Russia's Oreshnik hypersonic missile.

The Moscow visit by Witkoff, Trump's counterweight to American hawks on Russia, signifies that the locus of Trump's policy is gradually switching back to the Russian track. Evidently, Trump is desperate to reopen peace talks. On July 31, in a radio interview, Secretary of State Marco Rubio calmed the troubled waters by signalling that first, although the sanctions route is an option, "our hope is to avoid that and to sort of figure out a way that we can get the fighting to stop... we'll continue to be available and willing to participate in something like that, if it becomes available"; and, second, "a war between the United States and Russia is not something we can ever see".

SOURAV ROY

Putin reacted the very next day, saying, "Not long ago, our adversaries were confidently speaking of inflicting a 'strategic defeat' on Russia. Today, their rhetoric has shifted: now, their singular and desperate goal is to halt our offensive at any cost." But Putin won't relent until the Russian military operation fully realises its objective.

In the above fluid backdrop, Rubio, interestingly, also chose to empathise with Delhi's trade in Russian oil. Rubio said, "India is an ally. It's a strategic partner. Like anything in foreign policy, you're not going to align a hundred percent of the time on everything. India has huge energy needs and that includes the ability to buy oil and coal and gas and things that it needs to power its economy like every country does, and it buys it from Russia, because Russian oil is... cheap... So it is most certainly a point of irritation in our relationship with India... We also have many other points of cooperation with them. But I think what you're seeing the President express is the very clear frustration that with so many other oil vendors available, India continues to buy so much from Russia, which in essence is helping to fund the war effort." Rubio's remarks hinted that there is no inevitability about the US imposing a "penalty" on India.

We are, arguably, at an inflection point as Witkoff has arrived in Moscow. There is a high probability that the Russian-Ukrainian talks will be resumed. Putin has disclosed that at the Istanbul talks, the Ukrainian side had suggested that "it could make sense to discuss security for both Russia and Ukraine in the context of a pan-European security framework". Putin shared this view.

In sum, Trump is inexorably moving toward grabbing Witkoff's talks in Moscow as alibi to retreat from his threats to impose punitive sanctions against Russian oil and secondary sanctions on China and India. However, alarmed that the whole raison d'être of secondary sanctions is withering away, Trump has a Plan B. He is presenting a new ingenuous argument that regardless of the revival of peace talks, he'd still "substantially raise" the tariffs against India since it is allegedly profiteering by re-selling Russian oil "on the open market for big profits".

This is an astounding performance in political chicanery that is absolutely repugnant at the level of a world statesman at the helm of affairs in a superpower. Apparently, America's businessman-president abhors profit-making! Yet, by a rough estimate, the US made a profit of $10 trillion in recent years by simply letting its paper currency to be used by other countries as 'world currency'. If that is not profiteering, what is? Now we know why Trump is so morbidly obsessed with the spectre of a BRICS currency.

That said, when it comes to profiteering, Trump can be choosy. Big Oil cashed in on the European energy market after destroying Russia's Nord Stream gas pipelines to make windfall profits to the tune of $400 billion. The sordid story appears on the balance sheets of American oil companies during the period of the Ukraine war.

What began as a rewriting of the tariff regime in US-India trade is transforming as brigandage. Trump's move is spiteful. Rather than getting entangled in the shenanigans of America's avaricious and petulant president, the honourable thing to do for the Modi government will be to suspend the trade talks pending an explanation as regards Trump's itch to humiliate India. (Views are personal)

UMPTEEN PROOFS, BUT NO IDENTITY

THE Election Commission's special intensive revision of electoral rolls in Bihar and proposal to extend it to other states have stirred the hornet's nest of identity yet again. But identity challenges being faced by Indians run far deeper than the EC's periodic revisions. For many, it's 'a million mutinies a day' as different authorities periodically unleash their own dream projects on identifying or improvising on the identification of their subjects.

Consider the nationwide systems. The passport system commenced in 1920 and was revamped in 1967. In 2024, there were 9.3 crore valid passports. Electoral identification dates back to the first general elections of 1951-52. The first major attempt to issue an Electoral Photo ID Card (EPIC) was initiated by the EC during 1993-96. In 2024, there were 97 crore voters with EPICs for many of them. The Permanent Account Number was introduced by the Central Board of Direct Taxes in 1972, initially as an option but made mandatory for taxpayers from 1976. The latest data says there are 78 crore PAN cards.

In the mid-2000s came the brilliant idea of a unique ID for every resident—Aadhaar—using biometric imprints. The Unique Identification Authority of India was set up in 2009 and the first Aadhaar card issued in 2010. After a checkered trajectory, the UIDAI has issued Aadhaar cards to about 135 crore residents.

EPIC and passports are treated as universal proofs of identity, date of birth, and address. However, they do not offer universal coverage. EPIC is for citizens above 18 years, while passports cover only about 6.5 percent of the population. PAN, though available to a wider demography, is primarily a specific-purpose identifier for tax and financial transactions, and not an address proof. Aadhaar, with the largest coverage, has become just another ID. While it is accepted for its biometric features, it is neither a proof of nationality nor of date of birth. There are also about 5 dozen other IDs accepted by various state-level authorities.

All these IDs suffer from duplication and fakery due to the incentive structures in our ground-level governance systems. Recent reports of the CBI unearthing 8.5 lakh 'mule accounts' across certain banks, likely the tip of an iceberg, and the growing incidence of identity theft in financial crimes reveal deeper structural vulnerabilities of the fragmented and often unreliable identity architecture.

This is mainly the result of the unwillingness of the identifying authorities to work together and to have a common format for the basic parameters, or at least a common pattern of writing the name and a few basic parameters.

Take the example of writing the name of the applicant in the application forms of four national-level authorities. For EC's EPIC: "First name followed by middle name and surname [if any]". For MEA's passport: "Given name [means first name], followed by middle name [if any] and surname". For CBDT's PAN: "Last name/Surname, followed by first name and middle name". And for UIDAI, Aadhaar: "Fill in name as given in the document presented in support of the PoI, while omitting any titles, honorifics, and aliases."

PTI

Not just in Bihar, proving identity is a daily challenge for lakhs of Indians. The proliferation of uncoordinated ID systems and lack of a common format have created frustration, enabled fakery and denied livelihoods. A Planning Commission effort from the 2000s could offer an ideal systemic remedy

As long as these national IDs operated in silos, they posed no significant inconvenience to the people. However, sizable duplications across systems prompted a policy push to interlink them—PAN with Aadhaar, for example. Discrepancies in personal details, especially names, have led to frequent mismatches, making the process of linkage error-prone and frustrating for individuals. As the demand for formal proof and proof of that proof intensified, the spelling and structure of names in official documents became critical.

Aadhar was a great opportunity to bring a structure to identification. Had the UIDAI and EC collaborated on a unified identification framework, many of today's challenges could have been averted. They had the benefit of the contours of a multi-application smart card propounded by a committee appointed by the then Planning Commission in 2005. A working group in 2007 amplified the architecture of that system. The proposed model envisioned a smart identity system akin to a multi-storeyed building. The ground floor would house the basic demographic and biometric information of a resident (as in Aadhaar), while successive floors could serve different functional needs—electoral rolls, PDS, MNREGA—each protected by its own set of access controls and verification protocols.

The home to nearly a fifth of humanity cannot be governed like a city-state. India's identity challenges cannot be solved by proliferating plastic IDs and digital apps, the instruments of a burgeoning identification industry. The identity system must be well-designed, structured and orderly from the outset, rather than procrastinating endlessly like a perpetual construction site.

The system can still be rebooted if all authorities come on board. It should be accompanied by a campaign to educate every Indian on how to write her name, birth date and address in a consistent manner, and why it matters for their identity, livelihood and rights.

No, this must not be yet another ID issued by yet another agency operating in mission mode. It should be only a common format for the existing IDs or a harmonised ID. To be given to the youngest generations. Let the elder generations live in peace with whatever legally issued IDs they have.

Ruling vs Rule: Cong cites past discussions

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AS the government and the Opposition continue to be at loggerheads over the demand for a debate on the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls, both sides have resorted to past rules and precedents to substantiate their claims.

While the government maintains that the functioning of autonomous institutions such as the Election Commission cannot be discussed in Parliament, the Opposition has cited several instances of Lok Sabha Speaker allowing discussions on 'electoral reforms' in the past. In its meeting with Speaker on Monday, the Opposition proposed discussion on "electoral reforms" as a "middle path" to end the deadlock in Parliament. However, the government is unlikely to yield to the demand.

Speaking in the Lok Sabha on Wednesday on the demand for a discussion on SIR, Union Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju stressed that rules do not allow sub-judice matters to be discussed in the House. He also pointed out that the functioning of autonomous institutions such as the Election Commission cannot be discussed in Parliament. Earlier, the Lok Sabha Speaker and other ministers have cited the precedent of former speaker Balram Jakhar, who turned down a demand for a discussion in the House on the Election Commission's functioning, given that the poll panel is conceived as an independent entity.

To substantiate the opposition's claims, Congress general secretary (Communications) Jairam Ramesh cited a post by the party's deputy leader in the Lok Sabha, Gaurav Gogoi, which claimed that Parliament has a long history of discussing electoral reforms and the functioning of the Election Commission. Ramesh said Gogoi has done excellent research and "thoroughly exposed the bogus claims of the Modi government, which is preventing Parliament from functioning smoothly".

In a post on X, Gogoi said that in 1961, the Rajya Sabha debated amendments to the Conduct of Elections Rules ' the discussion was led by then Law Minister Gopal Swarup Pathak, he said.

In 1981, Congress MP Manubhai Patel moved a resolution to set up a parliamentary committee to review election laws, Gogoi pointed out. "In 1991, the Upper House debated the urgent need to amend existing election laws.

In 2015, a Calling Attention Motion was moved by Rajya Sabha LoP Ghulam Nabi Azad on proxy and e-postal voting for NRIs. Law Minister DV Sadananda Gowda accepted the Opposition's demand to consider their views," the Congress MP said. "And as recently as 2019, a Short Duration Discussion on electoral reforms saw participation from the then Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad. There is ample precedent. The government must not delay the long overdue and essential discussion on electoral reforms. Let us discuss electoral reforms in Parliament," he added.

RELIEF TO BCCI AS SPORTS MINISTRY EASES RTI NORMS

Earlier bill allowed scrutiny

The bill, introduced by Sports Minister Mansukh Mandaviya in the Lok Sabha on July 23, initially classified all recognised sports organisations as public authorities under RTI, regardless of their funding source. Clause 15(2) of the original draft would have brought even financially independent bodies like the BCCI under RTI scrutiny.

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

IN a major relief for the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI), the Sports Ministry has revised a key provision of the National Sports Governance Bill, narrowing the scope of the Right to Information (RTI) Act to cover only those sports bodies that receive government funding or assistance.

The bill, introduced by Sports Minister Mansukh Mandaviya in the Lok Sabha on July 23, initially classified all recognised sports organisations as public authorities under RTI, regardless of their funding source. Clause 15(2) of the original draft would have brought even financially independent bodies like the BCCI under RTI scrutiny.

However, following pushback, the government has circulated amendments clarifying that only entities that "rely on government funds or assistance" will be considered public authorities under RTI. This will exempt BCCI from the ambit of the RTI. "The amended clause defines public authority as an entity relying on government funds or assistance," a source said explaining that the "without this clarity, the bill could have faced legal challenges."

The revised version restricts RTI queries to areas involving government financial aid, shielding bodies like the BCCI, which argues it operates without government funding, from broader public scrutiny.

Still, the amendment leaves room for oversight in specific cases. "Even if a sports body doesn't take direct funding, it can still come under RTI if it receives government assistance, such as infrastructure or logistical support," the source added. The BCCI, which has long resisted inclusion under RTI, had earlier said it would study the bill before commenting. The revised draft now appears to align with its position, reducing the chance of future legal or political friction.

The amended clause defines public authority as an entity relying on government funds or assistance. Without this clarity, the bill could have faced legal challenges. Even if it doesn't take direct funding, it can still come under RTI if it receives government assistance, such as infrastructure support.

Join 'claims and objections' exercise, EC tells parties

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) on Wednesday said it has put in place a detailed plan to conduct the upcoming Bihar assembly elections and advised political parties, which are opposed to the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of the electoral rolls in the state, to participate in the claims and objections process through their authorised Booth Level Agents (BLAs).

The ECI said, "In a first for any state, Bihar has capped the number of electors per polling booth at 1,200 to prevent long queues. This initiative has led to a significant increase in the number of polling stations, from 77,895 to 90,712. The number of Booth Level Officers (BLOs) has also been increased from 77,895 to 90,712 to match this expansion." It said that the number of volunteers has been substantially increased from one lakh to almost four lakhs, and all 12 recognised political parties in Bihar have also increased their number of Booth Level Agents (BLAs) from 1,38,680 to 1,60,813.

Claiming that it has been actively working to ensure the accuracy of the voter lists, the poll panel said, "Lists of electors who were reported as deceased, permanently shifted, or having duplicate votes, as well as those who could not be contacted after at least three visits by BLOs, have been shared with all political parties and their BLAs on or before July 20."

AAP extends support to INDIA bloc demand for SIR debate in Parliament

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

UPPING the ante on Bihar SIR, the INDIA bloc parties — from the Left to the TMC to the Congress and AAP— came together on Wednesday to demand a discussion in Parliament, claiming that minorities, Dalits, and adivasis are facing the risk of losing their voting rights in the exercise.

At a joint press conference of the INDIA bloc leaders at Vijay Chowk in Delhi, Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge said that it is important to protect the voting rights of all Indians. Incidentally, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), which is no longer part of the bloc, also joined the presser questioning the need for the poll revision exercise.

Speaking to the media, AAP leader Sandeep Pathak said it is impossible to procure the documents needed for SIR in the timeline set by poll officials.

The bloc will take out a march to the EC office on August 11, said the leaders.

Referring to statements from the government and Chair in both Houses that the functioning of the ECI cannot be discussed in Parliament as it is an independent constitutional body, Kharge said that everything under the sun can be discussed.

"We want to have an opportunity to discuss it. There are problems with the voters' list, and they are indulging in vote theft. They are doing it undemocratically.. They are in a way trying to cast doubt on the citizenship of individuals," he said.

TMC leader Sagarika Ghose said they will continue protests inside and outside Parliament over the SIR issue, and also raise concerns over "attacks" on Bengali-speaking people in BJP ruled states.

DMK leader Tiruchi Siva said that the ruling party is putting the blame on the opposition for not allowing the House to function.

CPI's Sandosh Kumar P claimed the SIR and CAA are two sides of the same coin.

Swanky new address for ministries opens

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday said that sweeping reforms introduced by his government over the past 11 years have transformed India's governance model into one that is transparent, sensitive, and citizen-centric. Citing the success of the JAM (Jan Dhan, Aadhaar, and Mobile) trinity, Modi said that the initiative had plugged massive leakages in welfare schemes and prevented the theft of over ₹4.30 lakh crore that was allegedly being siphoned off through 10 lakh fake beneficiaries under previous regimes.

"Approximately 10 crore beneficiaries listed under various schemes such as the ration card, gas subsidy, and scholarships were found to be nonexistent. These individuals, who never actually existed, were being used by previous governments to funnel money to middlemen. However, these 10 crore fake names have now been removed from the list of beneficiaries by the incumbent government. According to an estimate, this cleanup has resulted in savings of over ₹4.30 lakh crore, which would have otherwise gone into the wrong hands. Imagine theft of ₹4.30 lakh crore. Now, this amount is being used for the development of this country," said Modi.

The PM was speaking at an event at Kartavya Path after inaugurating Kartavya Bhavan (Common Central Secretariat Building) 3, the first of the ten state-of-the-art Central government office complexes planned along Kartavya Path as part of the Central Vista redevelopment plan.

These blocks will house offices of all ministries and associated departments, presently functioning from Shastri Bhawan, Krishi Bhawan, Udyog Bhawan, Nirman Bhawan, North and South Blocks and other buildings located at different locations.

Modi said that the Kartavya Bhavan and other major infrastructure projects, including the new Defence Complexes, are not only a testament to India's pace but also a reflection of its global vision.

"Our government, with a holistic vision, is engaged in the construction of grand structures like Kartavya Bhavan near Kartavya Path. This is just the first Kartavya Bhavan completed; the construction of many such Kartavya Bhavans is progressing rapidly," Modi said.

The PM also highlighted the fact that once these offices are shifted to the new complexes located in close proximity, employees would benefit from an improved working environment along with access to necessary amenities, which in turn will enhance their overall work output. Modi said that with all the ministries and departments functioning from these buildings being constructed at one place, the Government will save ₹1,500 crore, currently being spent on rented accommodations at 50 different locations.

Modi, underscoring the need for new Government office complexes, said that for decades after Independence, India's administrative machinery operated from British colonial era buildings.

Doval reaches Moscow amid Trump tariff threats over Russian oil import

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

NATIONAL Security Advisor Ajit Doval will hold key meetings in Moscow on Thursday with senior Russian officials to discuss defence co-operation, energy ties, and preparations for an upcoming summit here between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Russian President Vladimir Putin, sources said.

Doval arrived in Moscow late Wednesday. The visit comes at a time of growing geopolitical friction, particularly after US President Donald Trump announced additional 25% levy on India for oil purchases from Russia, raising the total tariff burden on India to 50%, the highest on any US trade partner with the exception of Brazil.

According to official Russian news agency TASS, discussions will include Russian oil supplies, bilateral defence deals, and broader regional security issues. "The current escalation of the geopolitical situation will also be discussed," the agency reported.

Top on the agenda will be the delivery timeline of remaining S-400 missile systems, which played a pivotal role during the India-Pakistan military standoff and Operation Sindoor in May 2025. This marks Doval's first visit to Russia since Operation Sindoor.

Another key issue likely to surface is Russia's recent recognition of the Taliban regime in Afghanistan, a move that has implications for India.

Doval's visit will be followed by a broader diplomatic engagement, with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar scheduled to visit Russia in the third week of August for the India-Russia Inter-Governmental Commission (IRIGC-TEC) meeting.

Jaishankar's visit comes at a critical juncture, with tensions rising over Washington's escalating tariffs on Indian goods.

Given the IRIGC's mandate to address trade and economic issues, sources said the energy partnership with Russia and the US threat of punitive economic measures will be central to discussions during Jaishankar's visit. The high-level engagement underscores India's intent to protect its strategic autonomy while deepening ties with Russia, especially in energy and defence, despite pressure from the West.

The NSA's meetings in Moscow will take place a day after Russian President Vladimir Putin holds talks with US Special Envoy Steve Witkoff.

Facilitate free education of orphans under EWS quota, SC tells states

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IN a significant directive aimed at ensuring educational rights for vulnerable children, the Supreme Court on Wednesday ordered all states to include orphans within the ambit of the 25% quota for Economically Weaker Sections (EWS) under the Right to Education (RTE) Act. The Court also directed states to conduct a survey of orphaned children denied school admission and provide reasons for the denial.

A Bench comprising Justices BV Nagarathna and KV Viswanathan said, "States must issue notifications within four weeks bringing orphaned children under Section 12(1)(c) of the RTE Act," which mandates free and compulsory education for children aged 6 to 14 years in private unaided schools. While states like Delhi, Gujarat, Sikkim, Meghalaya, and Arunachal Pradesh have already issued such notifications, the Bench said others must follow suit. Simultaneously, the Court directed states to identify both admitted and denied orphan children, and urged them to take immediate steps to ensure their admission.

"While this survey is done, simultaneous efforts should be made so that such children are admitted to schools," the Court said. Hearing a petition filed by advocate Poulomi Pavini Shukla, who highlighted the lack of official data and policy support for India's orphans, the Bench also asked the Centre to consider adding a category for orphans in the 2027 Census.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta responded, "It should be. I would take it up because orphans are our responsibility."

Shukla argued that despite India's support systems for children from marginalised backgrounds, orphans remain an overlooked group, with estimates by UNICEF suggesting nearly 30 million orphaned children in the country.

The case will be heard next on September 9, with states expected to file affidavits detailing compliance.executive powers to dde on n you do, transfer and posting of government officials.

DGCA takes action for pilot skill test rule breach

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

THE Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) has suspended a senior official of Akasa Air for six months for violating rules during a pilot skill test. The airline had voluntarily reported the incident involving a Detailed Examiner (DE) to the regulator following internal review sessions, said a source.

The DGCA order, dated July 29, said, "Suspension of DE approval of Captain Kunal Khajuria is hereby ordered for a period of 6 months, effective from the date of this order. "

The airline's Director of Training, Captain Sewak Singh Khosa, had informed the regulator about the breach of the rule by the Captain.

A source said that the trainee and the DE had a major difference of opinion regarding an issue. "As per the standard procedure, it was reported to the Director, who in turn

The primary objective of any Designated Examiner at Akasa is to ensure that all trainings and assessments are professional, and meet prescribed regulatory standards without any fear of passing unsatisfactory candidates — Akasa Air brought it to the notice of the DGCA," he said.

Akasa Air said, "Keeping safety in mind is of utmost priority at Akasa. Each Designated Examiner and every other employee of the company upholds this standard in its highest form, at all times. The primary objective of any Designated Examiner at Akasa is to ensure that all trainings and assessments are professional, and meet prescribed regulatory standards without any fear of passing unsatisfactory candidates."

Airports put on high alert over terror attacks

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

THE Bureau of Civil Aviation Security (BCAS), a regulatory agency attached to the Ministry of Civil Aviation, has issued a set of three advisories calling for enhanced security at airports, flights and even flying training schools. This is in light of potential attacks from terrorists or anti-social elements.

In the third advisory, the BCAS has called for enhanced vigilance between September 22 and October 2 to all stakeholders in the aviation industry.

There was no official comment from the aviation ministry on it.

Over 140 rescued as search ops intensified in flash flood-devastated Harshil Valley ● Centre discusses ways to bolster climate action plan

U'khand village gone in 34 sec

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

DHARALI, a key stopover on the Gangotri Dham pilgrimage route, was completely devastated on Tuesday afternoon by a sudden surge of debris-laden water from the Khirganga River. The flash flood, carrying massive amounts of debris from the mountains, reportedly wiped out the entire village – market, houses, hotels, and all – in mere 34 seconds.

Besides Dharali, cloudbursts were also reported in Harsil and Sukki. In Harsil, nine out of eleven Army personnel who went missing after a cloudburst remain untraced. While authorities acknowledge the potential for a rising death toll, uncertainty persists more than 24 hours after the calamity.

SDRF, NDRF, ITBP, and Army teams are engaged in extensive rescue operations, having evacuated over 140 people so far. The ancient Kalp Kedar Mahadev Temple, a significant site connected to the Panch Kedar tradition and a major centre of local faith, was also buried under the debris.

Amidst the ongoing relief and rescue efforts, environmentalists, social workers, and historians have expressed deep concern over the disaster, appealing to the government to learn crucial lessons from it.

Historian and author Jai Singh Rawat told this newspaper that the Khirganga, a tributary of the Bhagirathi, has a long history of destructive floods. "Emerging from the Srikant peak, the Khirganga has been notorious for its devastating floods," he stated, recalling a 19th-century deluge that buried 240 temples, once part of the Kalp Kedar temple arena.

Pawan Nautiyal, a resident of Bhatwari in Uttarkashi, highlighted a fortunate coincidence: "Most villagers from Dharali, a village of about 230 families, were attending the 'Har-Doodh Mela' in Mukhwa. Otherwise, a much larger number of villagers could have been caught in the disaster."

Meanwhile, rescue teams on Wednesday intensified operations to locate villagers and soldiers missing under the debris of multi-storey structures in Dharali village. Two bodies have been recovered so far.

The search for survivors continued for a second day in Dharali and an Army camp in Harshil. Teams from the Army, ITBP (Indo-Tibetan Border Police), and SDRF (State Disaster Response Force) are relentlessly engaged in search and rescue. The Army launched a swift and coordinated Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief operation. The region is currently completely cut off due to multiple road breaches and a bridge collapse.

Kinnaur Kailash Yatra halted

The Kinnaur Kailash Yatra in Himachal Pradesh has been suspended, with one pilgrim dead, and 1,196 devotees evacuated is last 24 hours after cloudburst triggered flashfloods in the region, leaving several stranded. The district administration suspended the Yatra after heavy rainfall led to significant damage along the route, with trekking paths turning mucky and slippery or hit by landslides, posing serious risks.

Badrinath, Hemkund out of bound

Pilgrimages to the revered Badrinath Dham and Hemkund Sahib were suspended amid relentless downpour which has already claimed two lives. The picturesque Valley of Flowers and Nanda Devi National Park have been closed to tourists as a precautionary measure. Teams from the Army, NDRF, SDRF, and other organisations are engaged in round-the-clock operations to shift affected individuals.

ISRO TO FIND OUT WHAT WENT WRONG

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

TO determine the exact causes of the unprecedented flood disasters in Uttarkashi district, the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) on Wednesday asked the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) to investigate the massive floods in Uttarkashi district and provide facts that could help determine the causes behind the disaster.

In a separate meeting, the Union government discussed ways to enhance the state's climate action plan to mitigate similar disasters in the future.

Currently, both the Union and state governments are unsure of the causes behind the disaster. The government has not yet confirmed whether the floods were caused by a cloudburst, a glacial lake outburst flood (GLOF), or a combination of factors, including heavy rainfall and landslides.

According to IMD data, there is no evidence of a cloudburst as per its definition, which requires 100 mm or more rainfall within an hour over a 10 sqkm area. "IMD's analysis is based on meteorological developments, but the sparse density of rain-gauge stations in the area calls their analysis into question," an official privy to the development said. The rainfall data from all five IMD stations indicates light to moderate rainfall over the past two days.

The meeting convened by the MHA included representatives from the National Disaster Management Authority, IMD and IIT Roorkee scientists. "We agreed on the need to identify the actual reasons behind the disaster to respond appropriately, as the situation is quite similar to the 2013 Uttarakhand disasters," the official said. "It's possible that cloudbursts occurred at a very localised level that the IMD's observatory couldn't detect but might be noticeable through satellite monitoring."

'Confer martyr status to those killed in Pahalgam'

While the ruling dispensation is going gaga over the success of Operation Sindoor, it is yet to pay heed to repeated pleas by bereaved families of Pahalgam victims of conferring martyr status on those who were massacred in Baisaran valley on April 22. Sanjay Dwivedi, father of Shubham Dwivedi, the first victim of the terror attack, has written two letters to Prime Minister Narendra Modi demanding compensation for bereaved families and granting "martyr status". Dwivedi, in his letter, reportedly expressed hope that leaders across parties lines would stand by their demand, as the issue, beyond petty politics, is one of national interest.

Panchayati Raj order attracts Yogi action

A botched order from the Panchayati Raj department was about to put Yogi government in the dock if the CM had not rushed in to withdraw it right on time. The order pertained to removal of encroachments by those of a "specific caste (Yadav) and a specific religion (Muslim)" from 57,691 village panchayats across the state. Calling the order "completely discriminatory and unacceptable", and a serious administrative lapse, the CM also ordered immediate suspension of joint director SN Singh, the signatory of the order. The CM found its language and perspective divisive, and violation of government policies, which he asserted, could not be driven by prejudice.

Learning alphabets with 'PDA pathshala'

A Samajwadi Party (SP) functionary Farhad Alam has landed in legal soup for allegedly operating an illegal 'PDA pathshala' (school) in Saharanpur where children were being taught political slogans rather than the syllabus. An FIR, filed at Dehat Kotwali police station, said children at the 'school' were being taught "A for Akhilesh", "D for Dimple Yadav", and "M for Mulayam Singh Yadav". These references to SP leaders sparked public outrage after a purported video of the 'curriculum' went viral, leading to accusations of politicising education. Farhad has been booked under BNS section 353 (2) (promoting enmity between different groups) and the ST/SC Act.

Thadou tribe holds 'historic' Meitei meet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THADOU Inpi Manipur, the apex civil society organisation representing the Thadou tribe, held a closed-door meeting with major Meitei groups in Imphal on Wednesday.

What transpired was not made public but sources said the discussions hovered around efforts to restore peace, rebuild inter-community relationships and remove mistrust.

The meeting was dubbed "historic", seen as a significant step towards restoring peace in the state, ravaged by violent ethnic conflict between the Meitei and Kuki communities.

The Thadous too were affected by the conflict. This is the first time since the conflict that they stepped into the Meitei-majority Imphal Valley.

The Thadou Inpi Manipur, in a statement, said the meeting was on a "community understanding programme" between both sides. "...it is crucial to understand that Thadou tribe is a distinct indigenous identity, while the Kuki nomenclature, as used today, has become a politicised and ideological label," the organisation stated.

Chaibasa court grants bail to Rahul in 2018 Shah defamation case

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

CONGRESS MP Rahul Gandhi was granted bail by the Special MP-MLA Court in Jharkhand's Chaibasa on Wednesday in connection with a defamation case registered against him for an alleged objectionable remark against Union Home Minister Amit Shah in 2018. The bail was granted after Gandhi complied with the Jharkhand High Court directive to appear personally before the trial court.

Gandhi appeared before the court of Judge Supriya Rani Tigga who granted him bail on the condition that he would cooperate with the proceedings. Counsels for the petitioner opposed the bail, apprehending that though Gandhi has appeared this time, he may not cooperate in the future.

"Taking a note of our apprehension, the court took an undertaking from Rahul Gandhi that he will appear personally as and when required by the court," Advocate Vinod Kumar Sahu told the press.

The petitioner's counsel sought imposition of costs on Gandhi for avoiding court summons and wasting the court's time. It was turned down.

The Congress leader had reportedly made sharp remarks against the BJP at an AICC session in New Delhi in March 2018, allegedly calling its leaders "murderers" and "liars". Irked by the alleged remark, a BJP worker, Pratap Kumar, filed a complaint in a Chaibasa court in July 2018.

After repeated failure to appear before the court, Gandhi finally complied on Wednesday, arriving in Chaibasa from Ranchi by helicopter.

Shinde meets Modi, Shah over 'treatment' of ministers

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

DISGRUNTLED Maharashtra Deputy CM and Shiv Sena president Eknath Shinde, on Wednesday, met Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union minister Amit Shah in Delhi to discuss issues related to his party's treatment at the hands of the BJP in the state.

He was successful in meeting them on his third Delhi visit after returning empty-handed twice. "But this time, Modi and Shah gave the appointment and first met with the Shiv Sena MPs' delegation and later held an one-on-one meeting with Eknath Shinde," sources close to the Shiv Sena chief said.

Shinde later told the press that the meeting was a courtesy call. They discussed contesting the upcoming local body election together. He said his party MPs met Shah to congratulate him on becoming the longest-serving home minister.

Sources said that Shinde is not happy with Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, who has been regularly overturning the decisions taken by him and his ministers on various pretexts.

"Besides, Fadnavis has also initiated the inquiries against Shinde's ministers. So, there is unrest among Shiv Sena ministers. Shinde wanted the assurance from the top BJP leadership to respect the Shiv Sena, which was the oldest ally of the NDA and had also toppled the Uddhav Thackeray-led Maha Vikas Aghadi government. The Sena ministers should not be cornered, and there should be equal sharing of power in the state," said a source who requested anonymity.

The source added, "For the harassment of its leaders and ministers to stop, the Shiva Sena is ready to remain out of power and extend outside support to the BJP-led government. Otherwise, people will lose trust in the BJP leadership. Shinde indirectly conveyed this message at the meeting."

On fighting the elections to the BMC, he said, "We as Mahayuti fought the Lok Sabha and state assembly elections together, and now there is time to contest the local body elections together as well. We are confident that, like in previous elections, both the Lok Sabha and state assembly elections, we will win the local body elections as well."

'Unconditional support to NDA for V-P election'

Shinde also announced his party's "unconditional support" to the BJP-led alliance for the vice-presidential election slated for September 9. He also hailed Amit Shah for his "decisive" leadership, commending the abrogating Article 370. From cooperative development to national security, Shah's contributions have been exemplary, Shinde said.

Bihar voters in fix over deletion of names of kin

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

RAJKUMAR Lal Srivastava is at a loss as the name of one of the eight eligible voters in his family has been deleted from the voters' list. But what came as a rude shock for him is that the address of a Muslim family is the same as the house in which his family has been residing for long now.

"How it is possible? How can the address of a Hindu family and that of a Muslim community be the same? I have doubts that this could be a part of a larger conspiracy," Katihar-resident Srivastava questioned.

He said his family has unnecessarily been dragged into a controversy over the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of Bihar electoral rolls. Srivastava is a resident of House Number 118 at Bazar Samiti in Katihar town. His polling station (280) is located at Bazar Samiti.

Similarly, the name of Mantoo Rishi's wife Munni Devi has been removed from the voters' list. Instead, one Syed Akhtar Alam and Farida Khatoon have been added in the list. Mantoo said he would lodge a formal complaint at the special camp for rectification of errors.

TNIE @ GROUND ZERO

Manesh Kumar Meena, Katihar district magistrate, said, "Such anomalies in the draft electoral rolls have come to the notice of the administration. We have ordered an investigation and process to rectify the errors has started."

In Jehanabad, residents of Zafarpur alleged that names of 200 electors, mostly Muslims, have been deleted from draft electoral rolls. Mohammad Nawaz, a local resident, said that he was surprised to note that his name did not figure in the revised voters' list.

"How can it happen? Out of five members in the family, names of four still exist. Only my name has been removed. If there was any discrepancy in the enumeration form, my brother's name would have been deleted. But this is not the case," he said.

Another resident Mohammad Danish said, "My parents' names exist in the revised voter list except me and my brother." Similarly, Mohammad Qurban Alam said that his name was missing whereas his wife's name was there. He claimed that he had provided relevant documents to the booth-level officer (BLO) concerned during verification exercise.

When residents of Zafarpur brought the matter to the notice of Jehanabad district magistrate Alankrita Pandey, she assured that an initiative would be taken to include the names of the 'missing' persons after verification of documents.

"Special camps are being organised at the block office for a month where people can add their names by filing in Form 6. If name of any individual has been erroneously deleted, his/her name may be included with the production of one of the 11 documents required for the purpose," the DM said.

More acquittals than convictions under anti-religious conversion act

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE first five years of Madhya Pradesh's stringent anti-religious conversion law, often dubbed the 'anti-Love Jihad' law, have been marked by more acquittals than convictions.

According to the detailed figures presented by the Mohan Yadav government in the Vidhan Sabha on Tuesday, as many as 283 cases were registered under various provisions of the MP Freedom of Religion Ordinance 2020, and its successor MP Freedom of Religion Act 2021, between January 1, 2020 and July 15, 2025.

While 197 or around 70% of the registered cases are under trial in various courts, in as many as 86 or 30% cases, accused have either been acquitted, convicted or police probe is still underway.

Out of those, the accused have been acquitted in 50 cases (58%), while accused have been convicted and awarded sentences in just seven cases, a mere 7% of the 86 cases.

Among the seven cases in which the accused have been convicted, the trial court awarded life sentence to the convicts in two. In one case, also involving Section 376 IPC (rape), the accused was convicted and sentenced to ten years.

As per police sources privy to probe in such cases, lack of evidence to corroborate the prosecution's facts have led to more acquittals and less convictions under the Act. "In many cases, during course of trial, the female victims stated before court that they were in consensual relationship with the man of the other religion or married men from other religion out of their own volition and staying with them without any fear, threat, pressure or enticement," the source said.

ISRAEL, U.N. CLASH OVER HOSTAGES

JERUSALEM

ISRAEL called an emergency meeting of the UN Security Council to demand the release of its emaciated hostages, including one seen digging his own grave. Their plight drew widespread sympathy — but the 2 million Palestinians starving in Gaza got even more. Not only the Palestinians but most council members blamed the Israeli government and military for the two-month blockade of Gaza and failure to allow enough food into the conflict-wracked territory, where its health ministry has reported over 100 deaths from starvation, including many children.

Israeli Foreign Minister Gideon Saar, who flew to New York to attend the council meeting, accused Russia and other unnamed council members as well as the international media of perpetuating "so many lies." He pointed to Hamas and Islamic Jihad's starvation of hostages taken during the October 7, 2023, attacks in southern Israel "while the terrorists enjoy meat, fish and vegetables." Saar insisted that Israel is facilitating "huge amounts of aid into Gaza," accusing Hamas of looting the food and other items and using it as "a financial tool" to sell and make money.

Israel's top diplomat also accused the Palestinians of inventing terrorism, and Hamas of wanting to continue the war against Israel instead of reaching a ceasefire. "The world has been turned upside down while Hamas runs its propaganda machine," Saar said. It's "a world in which Israel is put on a bench of the accused while it fights for its survival. There is a name for it. It's called antisemitism." Itay David, the older brother of emaciated hostage Evyatar David, who was pictured over the weekend in a Gaza tunnel saying he was digging his own grave, urged the Security Council: "Do not let them die. We don't have time. Do not let them spend another minute in darkness." AP

36 Palestinians killed by Israeli army at aid site

DEIR AL-BALAH

At least 38 Palestinians were killed overnight and into Wednesday in the Gaza Strip while seeking aid from United Nations convoys and sites run by an Israeli-backed American contractor, according to local health officials. The Israeli military said it had fired warning shots when crowds approached its forces.

The latest deaths came as Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu was expected to announced further military action — and possibly plans for Israel to fully reoccupy Gaza. Experts say Israel's ongoing military offensive and blockade are already pushing the territory of some 2 million Palestinians into famine. Escalating the 22-month war risks Palestinian lives, Israeli hostages, and sparks global and domestic opposition AP

'Constructive' talks held between Putin and Witkoff

This comes as Russia faces US deadline for Ukraine peace or penalties

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin held talks with US President Donald Trump's special envoy Steve Witkoff in Moscow on Wednesday, the Kremlin said, days before the White House's deadline for Russia to reach a peace deal with Ukraine or potentially face severe economic penalties that could also hit countries buying its oil.

The meeting between Putin and Witkoff lasted about three hours. Putin's foreign affairs adviser Yuri Ushakov said that Putin and Witkoff had a "useful and constructive conversation" that focused on the Ukrainian crisis and, in a nod toward improving relations between Washington and Moscow, "prospects for possible development of strategic cooperation between the US and Russia."

Earlier, Witkoff took an early morning stroll through Zaryadye Park, a stone's throw from the Kremlin, with Kirill Dmitriev, the Russian president's envoy for investment and economic cooperation, footage aired by TASS showed. Dmitriev said later on social platform X that "dialogue will prevail."

Dmitriev played a key role in three rounds of direct talks between delegations from Russia and Ukraine in Istanbul in recent months, as well as discussions between Russian and US officials. The negotiations made no progress on ending the three-year war following Russia's invasion of its neighbor. Trump's deadline for Putin ends on Friday. Washington has threatened "severe tariffs" and other economic penalties if the killing doesn't stop.

Trump has expressed increasing frustration with Putin over Russia's escalating strikes on civilian areas of Ukraine, intended to erode morale and public appetite for the war. The intensified attacks have occurred even as Trump has urged the Russian leader in recent months to relent. Overnight from Tuesday to Wednesday, Russian forces hit a recreational center in Ukraine's southern Zaporizhzhia region, killing two people and injuring 12, including two children, regional Gov. Ivan Fedorov said Wednesday. Russian forces launched at least four strikes on the area and initially attacked with powerful glide bombs. "There is zero military sense in this strike. Only cruelty to intimidate," Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said in a post on Telegram. Russia also struck the Ukrainian power grid and facilities for heating and cooking gas, Zelenskyy said, as Ukraine makes preparations for winter. Western analysts and Ukrainian officials say Putin is stalling for time and avoiding serious negotiations while Russian forces push to capture more Ukraine land. A Russian offensive that started in the spring and is expected to continue through the fall is advancing faster than last year's push but is making only slow and costly gains and has been unable to take any major cities.

The situation on the front line is critical for Ukrainian forces but defenses are not about to collapse, analysts say.

On Tuesday, Trump said "we'll see what happens" regarding his threat to slap tariffs on nations that buy Russian oil, which could increase import taxes dramatically on China and India. AP

Trump doubts sanctions as Russia dodges penalties

Trump initially gave Moscow a 50-day deadline, but later moved up his ultimatum as the Kremlin continued to bomb Ukrainian cities. However, Trump himself doubted their effectiveness, saying Sunday that Russia has proven to be "pretty good at avoiding sanctions." "They're wily characters," he said of the Russians. The Kremlin has insisted that international sanctions imposed since its February 2022 invasion of its neighbor have had a limited impact.

Pak extends Afghan deportation deadline

PESHAWAR: Pakistan has extended the deadline for deporting Afghan refugees to September 1, with a 25-day grace period for voluntary returns. Around 1.4 million registered refugees with Proof of Residence cards face arrest and forced expulsion after the new deadline. The UN welcomed the extension but warned against forced deportations, which could violate international law. Authorities plan to close refugee camps, though no dates have been set.

China deploys drones, disinfectants to combat chikungunya outbreak

TAIPEI

AN outbreak of the chikungunya virus in China has prompted authorities to take preventive measures from mosquito nets and clouds of disinfectant, threatening fines for people who fail to disperse standing water and even deploying drones to hunt down insect breeding grounds.

More than 7,000 cases of the disease have been reported as of Wednesday, focused largely on the manufacturing hub of Foshan near Hong Kong. Numbers of new cases appear to be dropping slowly, according to authorities. Chikungunya is spread by mosquitoes and causes fever and joint pain, similar to dengue fever, with the young, older people and those with preexisting medical conditions most at risk. Chinese state television has shown workers spraying clouds of disinfectant around city streets, residential areas, construction sites and other areas where people may come into contact with virus-bearing mosquitos that are born in standing water.

Workers sprayed some places before entering office buildings, a throwback to China's controversial hardline tactics used to battle the COVID-19 virus. People who do not empty bottles, flower pots or other outdoor receptacles can be subject to fines of up to 10,000 yuan ($1,400) and have their electricity cut off. AP

Trump-backed Nawrocki assumes Polish presidency

WARSAW

CONSERVATIVE Karol Nawrocki was inaugurated Wednesday as Poland 's new president, which could set the country on a more nationalist course and cast doubt on the viability of the centrist government of Prime Minister Donald Tusk.

Karol Nawrocki

Most day-to-day power in Poland rests with the prime minister, chosen by the parliament. However, the president holds the power to influence foreign policy and veto laws.

Nawrocki, who was supported by US President Donald Trump ahead of a narrow victory in a runoff election in June, is a 42-year-old historian who had no political experience prior to campaigning. He was not even a political party member until being approached by the conservative Law and Justice party that governed Poland from 2015 to 2023. Welcomed to the Sejm, Poland's parliament, by uproarious chants of "Karol, Karol" and rhythmic clapping Wednesday, Nawrocki raised his right hand and took the oath of office to kick off a five-year term.

"The free choice of a nation has put me before you today," Nawrocki said in a raspy voice during his inauguration speech.

He criticized the "electoral propaganda" and "lies" during the campaign but said, "As a Christian, I forgive all the contempt and what happened during the elections with peace of mind and from the heart." AP

PREZ: ONE PIECE FLAG FINE, BUT RESPECT OURS

President Prabowo Subianto views the trend of hoisting the One Piece pirate flag as a "creative expression," according to State Secretary Minister Prasetyo Hadi. However, Hadi emphasized that the One Piece flag should not replace or oppose Indonesia's national flag, the Red-and-White. He urged citizens to respect national symbols, especially ahead of Independence Day on August 17. The flag, popular among younger generations, has been used to express dissatisfaction with perceived corruption and injustice, but Hadi reminded citizens to honor the nation's heroes and symbols.

Don says Vance 'most likely' his MAGA heir

NEW YORK

PRESIDENT Donald Trump has suggested that Vice President J D Vance is "most likely" the heir apparent to his Make America Great Again (MAGA) movement, while Secretary of State Marco Rubio can also join him in "some form".

"Well, I think most likely. In all fairness, he's the vice president," Trump said on Tuesday while answering a question on his "heir apparent" to MAGA. Trump, who assumed office over six months ago, said that it is "too early" to talk about successors, but Vance is certainly "doing a great job, and he would be probably favourite at this point," CNN reported. However, Trump was quick to add that Rubio can also "get together with JD in some form." Trump had earlier declined to offer any endorsement for a 2028 successor.

Donald Trump

Trump said in February that Vance was 'very capable' but that it was too early to name him as the leading candidate, the report added. Vance, 40, is a former Marine and served as Ohio Senator from 2023 to 2025. He has carved out a sizable role in the second Trump administration for himself, the report said.

Rubio, in an interview with Fox News last month, brushed off talks of his presidential ambitions for 2028 and said that he is focused on his current job, Time.com reported.However, he did not completely rule it out, adding, "you never know what the future holds." PTI

Italy OKs $15.5B bridge linking mainland to Sicily

MILAN

ITALY cleared the way Wednesday to build the world's largest suspension bridge linking the Italian mainland with Sicily in a massive 13.5 billion euro ($15.5 billion) infrastructure project that has been long delayed by debates over its scale, earthquake threats, environmental impact and the spectre of mafia interference.

The Strait of Messina Bridge will be "the biggest infrastructure project in the West," Transport Minister Matteo Salvini told a news conference in Rome, after an interministerial committee with oversight of strategic public investments approved the project.

Premier Giorgia Meloni said that the bridge "will be an engineering symbol of global significance."

Salvini cited studies showing the project will create 120,000 jobs a year and accelerate growth in economically lagging southern Italy, as billions more in investments are made in roads and other infrastructure projects accompanying the bridge. AP

MPC meet: RBI votes for status quo

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

RBI Guv Sanjay Malhotra along with Dy governors Poonam Gupta, Swaminathan Janakiraman, M Rajeshwar Rao and T Rabi Sankar at RBI headquarters in Mumbai | PTI

THE monetary policy committee (MPC) led by Reserve Bank governor Sanjay Malhotra has chosen not to offer any more surprises after 100 bps reduction in the key lending gauge repo, including an unconventional 50 bps delivered in June.

The six-member rate setting panel unanimously voted to stay put on the rates at 5.50% and also on the neutral policy stance. Despite a significant reduction in inflation forecast to 3.1% for the current fiscal, down from 3.8% earlier, the MPC at the 56th meeting that ended here on Wednesday chose to retain the growth outlook at 6.5% citing "the very, very uncertain times around the tariff war outcomes."

"The status quoish decision is in consonance with the objective of achieving the medium-term target for consumer price index inflation of 4% within a band of +/- 2%, while supporting growth," the governor said announcing the policy decisions. Despite the rising risks to global growth, the governor said, "Domestic growth remains resilient and is broadly evolving along the lines of our assessment. Private consumption, aided by rural demand, and fixed investment, supported by buoyant government capex, continue to boost economic activity."

"On the supply side, a steady Southwest monsoons is supporting kharif sowing, replenishing reservoir levels and boosting agriculture activity. Moreover, services sector and construction activity remain robust. However, growth in industrial sector remained subdued and uneven across segments, pulled down by electricity and mining" and decided to retain growth forecast for the current fiscal at 6.5%."

Addressing the media later, Malhotra said in response to a query on the likely impact of the tariff wars, "we have not assesses the trade war impact on growth as yet, given how very, very difficult and uncertain the situation as of now. Also, we have already lowered our forecast by 20 bps earlier to 6.5% which factors in the trade war impact along with crude oil prices."

His deputy, the junior most deputy governor in-charge of monetary policy department Poonam Gupta chipped in saying, "our assessment about the first level impact of the trade war on inflation is negative. It's unlikely the punitive tariffs announced by the US on our exports will have a negative impact on inflation here. However, this may change if there is a considerable level in increase in crude prices." The RBI retained the growth forecast unchanged at 6.5%.

RBI allows SIP in treasury bills via Retail Direct

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

NOW retail investors will be able to invest in treasury bills via systematic investment plans (SIPs) on the RBI's Retail Direct platform, governor Sanjay Malhotra said on Wednesday. This is part of the expansion plan of Retail Direct scheme, under which retail investors can invest in government securities.

Treasury bills are short-term government securities with tenure of up to 1 year. Treasury bills don't promise any interest, but are available at a discounted price, which can be redeemed at a nominal value. The investor, thus earns through capital gains. Currently, investors could invest indirectly in treasury bills through mutual funds. But with Retail direct, they can directly purchase T-bills from the government.

Hit by slowdown, tariff, housing sector receives no reprieve from RBI

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

REAL estate sector feels a repo rate cut by the Reserve Bank (RBI) in its latest Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) meeting outcome would have boosted confidence among buyers amid a slowdown phase and additional pressure caused by US President Donald Trump's new 25% tariffs on Indian goods.

The RBI kept the policy rate unchanged at 5.5% and retained its 'Neutral' stance in the August MPC meeting, citing inflation stability and geopolitical uncertainty. The decision follows a cumulative 100 bps rate cut earlier this year and comes as former US President Donald Trump threatens a 25% tariff on Indian exports, a move that could impact nearly $100 billion in outbound trade and shave 30 bps off FY26 GDP growth.

Anuj Puri, chairman - ANAROCK Group, said the real estate weathers unrelenting turbulence as the sentiment is pressured by Trump's 25% tariffs and a 20% plunge in housing sales across top metros, as per the latest ANAROCK data. In Q2 of 2025 alone, 96,285 homes were sold, a steep fall from 120,335 a year ago, indicating increasing buyer hesitancy and market uncertainty.

"A rate cut leading to lower interest rate environment would have boosted the affordable housing segment, which has been under considerable pressure in recent years," added Puri.

ANAROCK data shows average residential prices across top 7 cities combined have increased by 39% in the last two years alone – from ₹6,470 per sq. ft. as of Q2, 2023 to ₹8,990 per sq. ft. as of Q2, 2025.

"The affordable housing segment's fate may be further dampened by the ongoing global trade tensions and tariffs imposed by the Trump administration. This is because of its impact on the MSMEs – key target audience of the affordable segment," stated Puri. Samir Jasuja, founder & chief executive officer, PropEquity, said with ongoing trade war, geo-political tensions, volatility in global financial market and tech sector layoffs in India may have some repercussion on economic growth, including in sectors like exports, real estate etc.

Housing sales decline drastically in Q2 of 2025

Anuj Puri, chairman - ANAROCK Group, said the real estate weathers unrelenting turbulence as sentiment is pressured by 25% tariffs and 20% fall in housing sales across metros, as per latest ANAROCK data. In Q2 of 2025 alone, 96,285 homes were sold, a steep fall from 120,335 a year ago, indicating increasing buyer hesitancy and market uncertainty.

UPI can't remain cost-free indefinitely: Malhotra

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

RESERVE BANK governor Sanjay Malhotra on Wednesday said even as popular unified payments interface (UPI) remains free for users, it is not free as someone is already covering the cost and it can't remain cost-free indefinitely. He added the government will ultimately decide who bears the operational expenses.

Addressing reporters at the customary post-policy presser here Wednesday, the governor in response to a query on his earlier statement, which alluded to him saying UPI can't be free for ever, clarified that "I never said UPI can't stay free forever. What I said was there are costs (associated with UPI transactions), and they need to be paid for by someone."

"The question was whether charges like merchant discount rate (MDR) would be passed on to consumers. I responded by saying there are costs involved," he clarified at an industry event last week in the city. "There are costs, and these costs have to be paid by someone. Who pays is important but not as important as the fact that someone is footing the bill," the governor said, adding, "my sense is that it is not free even now, and someone is paying for it. The government is subsidising it, but somewhere, the costs are being paid." UPI transactions are currently free for users, he emphasised that the infrastructure involves operational costs, which are being subsidised by the government.

Introduced in 2016 by the RBI-run National Payments Corporation, the UPI accounts for about 80% of retail digital payments in the country and is a global success story when it comes to digital payments. On average, UPI handles 30 crore transactions a month, which in July was 31 crore. Since January 2020, UPI transactions have been exempt from MDR, a fee charged to merchants by banks for processing digital payments.

The governor's clarification come after some banks such as ICICI Bank have started levying fees on UPI transactions from August 1 involving certain merchant categories or routed through payment aggregators, raising questions over the long-term viability of the no-cost model. In June, the finance ministry had dismissed reports that MDR would be levied on UPI transactions, calling the claims "completely false, baseless, and misleading. The government remains committed to promoting digital payments via UPI." Malhotra repeated, "who pays is important but not so important than someone footing the bill. Someone will eventually need to cover these expenses. The sustainability of the UPI model is crucial."

'Airtel will abide by govt decision on AGR relief'

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

BHARTI AIRTEL will abide by whatever decision the Department of Telecommunications takes regarding its adjusted gross revenue (AGR) relief, said Gopal Vittal, managing director of Airtel on Wednesday.

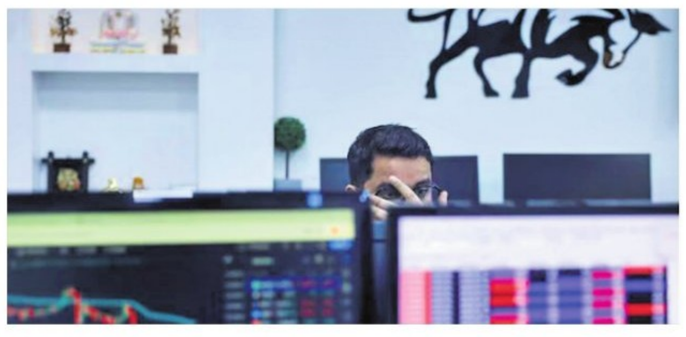
Vittal, speaking at the Q1 post-earnings call, stated the company is prepared to meet its payment obligations regardless of the government's decision. Airtel, country's second-largest telecom service provider, urged the government to convert its AGR dues of about ₹40,000 crore into equity. The telco's request came after the government recently converted Vodafone Idea's ₹36,950 crore worth of spectrum dues into equity.

"We will abide by whatever decision the government take.. we have written to the government to be extended the same relief as any other telco," said Vittal. The Department of Telecommunications allowed a four-year deferment for paying dues linked to the AGR of telecom operators as part of sectoral reforms. The operators could convert the dues into equity at the end of the moratorium period, at the option of the government.

Vittal pitched for a tariff hike, stating that mobile tariffs in India are the lowest globally—even among low-income countries. Airtel has the highest average revenue per user (ARPU) — a key growth indicator for telecom companies — of ₹250 among the telcos. It has risen from about Rs 211 in the same period last year. As per Vittal, due to the current price structure, the rich are paying the same or even less than the lower-income group for mobile services in the country.

Mkt tumbles as US tariff offsets RBI rate pause

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi



By allowing 21 days, Trump is keeping the negotiation window open, which is likely to provide some relief to investors. I also feel most negative cues are already factored in

Sunny Agrawal, head of fundamental research at SBI Securities

DOMESTIC equity market closed slightly lower on Wednesday as investors grew cautious following US President Donald Trump's threat on Tuesday to substantially raise tariffs on Indian goods within 24 hours.

This was in response to India's continued imports of Russian oil. Trump acted on his word and on Wednesday signed an executive order imposing an additional 25% tariff on India, raising the total tariff on Indian goods imported by the U.S. to 50%.

Experts believe this tariff increase will negatively impact India's outbound trade to the U.S., which is valued at nearly $100 billion. The move is also expected to affect the earnings of many companies that derive a significant portion of their revenue from exports to the US. Sunny Agrawal, head of fundamental research at SBI Securities, told TNIE the market may open flat or slightly lower on Thursday with a negative bias. This is because tariffs will apply only after 21 days, creating uncertainty about whether and when the tariffs will actually come into effect.

"By allowing 21 days, Trump is keeping the negotiation window open, which is likely to provide some relief to investors. I also feel most negative cues are already factored in," said Agrawal. He added that sectors like gems & jewellery and textiles, which have maximum exposure to the US market, have seen sharp corrections in recent sessions.

Regarding pharma companies, Agrawal said, "It is difficult to predict impact because imposing taxes on medicines is not easy for any country."

Concerns over escalating US-India trade tensions overshadowed the RBI's decision to keep repo rate unchanged at 5.5%, a move that was widely anticipated by markets.

The BSE Sensex fell 166.26 points or 0.21% to settle at 80,543.99 on Wednesday, and the Nifty closed 75.35 points or 0.31% lower at 24,574.20. The Nifty Midcap and Smallcap indices declined over 1% each. Market breadth remained weak, with the Nifty 500 advance-decline ratio at 1:4, reflecting significant profit booking in the broader market.

Barring PSU Banks, which outperformed with gains of 0.6%, all other sectoral indices closed in negative territory. IT, Media, Realty, Pharma, and FMCG stocks declined in the range of 1–2%, reflecting sectoral rotation and risk-off sentiment. IOA ATHLETES COMMISSION TO MEET TODAY

The in-person meeting, first after CEO's ratification, aims to restore normalcy in functioning of Indian Olympic body

FLIPSIDE

INDRANEEL DAS

DAYS after the Executive Committee of the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) ratified the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer (CEO), the Athletes Commission will be meeting in New Delhi on Thursday. Majority of the members are expected to attend the meeting, the first after the CEO's ratification. The Athletes Commission is one of the vital cogs in the functioning of a National Olympic Committee (NOC). The IOA too is in a rebuilding process and after the EC meeting to ratify CEO appointment later last month, this will be another step towards normalisation. Raghuram Iyer, the IOA CEO, as powers vested on him by the new IOA constitution, has already called for a Special General Meeting (SGM) to clear the accounts by the passing the audits of 2023-24. The Athletes Commission meeting is another important pit-stop before the SGM.

One must be aware that the International Olympic Committee (IOC), because of the infighting between the IOA EC members and the IOA president (PT Usha), had stopped the Olympic Solidarity fund that is aimed at development of athletes through various robust programmes. The solidarity fund also helps to "train coaches and sports administrators, and promote the Olympic values". The IOC has also said that for a strong Olympic bid, a strong NOC is a must.

Though most of the commission members are expected to attend, multiple Olympic and Worlds medallist PV Sindhu, Olympic and Worlds medallist Mirabai Chanu and Asian Games medallist Rani Rampal might not be able to attend the meeting. There is doubt over London Olympic and multiple worlds medallist MC Mary Kom's participation too. In her absence, vice chairperson table tennis medallist at Asiad and Commonwealth Games, A Sharath Kamal, is likely to chair the event. Though he did not want to go into specifics about the meeting as of now but according to him the IOA, the CEO and all the commission members are together for development of sport and would work towards that.

Getting funds from IOC priority

The commission would be looking at getting the funds released for development of sports across the country. It is understood that the meeting would discuss ways to activate sporting programmes that would help the sporting ecosystem of the country grow and become more robust. Once the programmes are set and activated, the IOA can request the IOC to start releasing the funds for capacity building and to create an environment where athletes are recognised and thrive.

Apart from this, the commission need to evaluate all National Sports Federations (NSFs) and their Athletes Commission. If an NSF doesn't have one, the commission should discuss with the respective NSFs. The IOA's constitution is athletes' driven and the commission knows their importance. Even the CEO has been pointing this out and felt the IOA should be athletes centric and athletes driven. Though the AC had met around three times online, this is considered to be first serious in-person meeting.

Athletes Commission: Hmangte Chungneijang Mary Kom (Chairperson), A Sharath Kamal (Vice Chairperson), Om Prakashh, Shiva Keshavan, Gagan Narang, Bajrang Lal, PV Sindhu, Bhavani Devi, Rani Rampal, S Mirabai Chanu. IOC Athletes Commission: Abhinav Bindra

ISL UNCERTAINTY

CHENNAIYIN PAUSE CLUB OPERATIONS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

THE Indian Super League (ISL) is in deep sea at the moment with no clarity over the future of the league. That is now forcing the clubs to take extreme measures. Over the last week or so, both Bengaluru FC and Odisha FC suspended the salaries of players and staff. Now, Chennaiyin FC has become the latest club to take a drastic step. In light of the current predicament, the former champions, in a statement on Wednesday, said that they'll be temporarily stopping club operations.

"At Chennaiyin FC, we are more than just a football club. We are a family. Like any family, we support each other in difficult times. However we must remain true to the core values on which this club was built and which we have always strived to uphold," the club statement read.

"The challenges of being a stakeholder in Indian football are well recognized. In light of the continuing uncertainty surrounding the future of the Indian Super League, Chennaiyin FC has taken the extremely difficult decision to temporarily pause club operations. This is not a step we take lightly. It affects people we care about deeply. The welfare of our players, coaches, staff and their families remains a priority, and we are in constant communication with them as we face this together," the statement added.

Chennaiyin are one of the sides that have been part of the league since its inception. The club said that they'll remain 'committed to the growth of Indian football'.

"(...)Throughout this uncertainty, our commitment to the growth of Indian football, upon which this journey began, remains as strong as ever."

The league is facing this predicament due to unresolved contractual issues between the organisers Football Sports Development Limited (FSDL) and the All India Football Federation (AIFF), the governing body of the sport in the country.

The clubs will be hoping to find some headway when they meet AIFF president Kalyan Chaubey in New Delhi on Thursday.

Chennai GM moved by a day after fire issue

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

THE beginning of the third edition of the Chennai Grand Masters event had to be pushed back by a day because of a small fire incident at the Grand Hyatt hotel, venue for the tournament. AT 11.30 PM on Tuesday, some smoke started emanating from the hotel's ninth floor. The hotel's in-house engineering staff immediately gave orders to evacuate.

The hotel staff, working in tandem with the fire marshall as well as the organisers of the meet (MGD1), ushered out all the residents per protocol. Out of the roughly 60 or so who had gathered for the tournament (players and their entourage, officials, commentators, sponsors and so on), the players were given first priority to exit the hotel. They were housed in the nearby Pullman hotel for the night. It's learned that a similar protocol was followed with a developmental Australian cricket team, also housed at the same hotel (they are being supervised by Glenn McGrath).

The hotel staff had already identified the problem and signalled to the organisers it was okay to return. Once the organisers returned post a second dinner, they decided on moving the tournament by a day. It's still scheduled to end on the same day but it will now be nine games across as many as days as the players agreed to cancel the rest day.

The problem was resolved at around 3.00 in the morning and the organisers slept in the hotel. The players and their entourage also headed back to the venue post breakfast. It's learned that all of them remain in good spirits and can't wait for the tournament to start.

The one thing they have asked for is for room purifiers to ensure there are no lingering after-effects of the smoke. The organisers informed this daily these demands were met as soon as possible. With the topmost floors out of bounds (8th and 9th floors), the people associated with the tournament have been given rooms on the 5th floor or below to ensure they are well away from the smell of smoke.

To be fair, the hotel is functioning normally and they have already started receiving new guests. The first round is now to set to be begin at the same time (3.00 PM IST) but on Thursday.

People who had purchased tickets can either request a full refund or keep their tickets for one of the later rounds.

REVISED SCHEDULE

August 7 — 1st Round

August 8-15 — 2nd Round to 9th Round

August 11 was earlier a rest day. It will now be Round 5

BFI elections in troubled waters

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

THE Boxing Federation of India elections has seemingly run into choppy waters again. Going by the electoral college list released by the interim committee of the Boxing Federation of India (BFI), the entire election process would be in jeopardy if the Delhi High Court intervenes. The reason is same as the last time — throwing former sports minister Anurag Thakur's name along with Delhi boxing association chief Rohit Jain out of the electoral college list. The two have apparently approached the Delhi High Court.

Thakur's name was sent by Himachal Pradesh boxing unit. This decision was taken by interim committee chairperson Fairuz Mohamed who said that the nomination is "in violation of Article 20 (iii) and (vii) of the Constitution of BFI approved by World Boxing." Interestingly, the interim committee got the earlier constitution amended in May and inserted the said clause. Even when the earlier constitution did not have this provision and Thakur's name was removed after the former BFI chief Ajay Singh, who is expected to run for a third term, had issued a letter days after calling for nomination that barred unelected members from participating in elections. That was challenged and the previous election was shelved.

This time the interim committee that was supposed to run the day-to-day affairs of boxing in country got the constitution changed and inserted that clause. Whether or not an interim committee is eligible to do that when election process has begun is unclear. However, that it needs ratification in the general assembly could be a point Thakur faction would raise.

The nominee this time, according to the new constitution approved by the World Boxing, "shall be an elected member of the State/UT member association during the election AGM duly notified to BFI and in presence of BFI observer." Interestingly, the IOA has formed a committee to look into BFI elections and the panel had reported that the interim committee be dissolved and independent body should conduct the elections. Not just that. There are at least two state units that have been included in the new electoral rolls this time.

More Indians are expected to make the cut in this day-long event. "We are expecting more athletes to make the cut for prestigious global competition. The deadline to achieve qualification is August 24, 2025," Sahoo said in a press meet on Wednesday. Chopra is set to miss out on this event, as he is training in Europe for the Worlds. It will be a homecoming of sorts for national record holder 200 metres Animesh Kujur, Javelin thrower Kishore Kumar Jena, and sprinter Srabani Nanda.

Sahoo added that the guidelines prescribed by the World Athletics were followed to decide disciplines for this meet. Events like shot-put, discus throw, and high jump are not part of the meet.

Prahlad Sriram, however, failed to qualify for the third round. He finished third in the heat round with 4.94 points. He will now get another chance in the repechage round.

China's Shidong Wu of China was the highest scorer of the day with 17.34 points. He bettered Kanoa Heejae of Korea (13.10 pts) and Aydin Kayani of Singapore (4.94 pts) in the heat round.

On Thursday, the repechage rounds will take place across both the Open and U18 categories.

With conditions set to be more challenging in the shore, it remains to be seen whether that would bring the best out of these surfers.

East Bengal secure 1-0 win vs Namdhari

AGENCIES @ Kolkata

EAST BENGAL FC moved a step closer to securing a knockout berth at the 134th Durand Cup with a 1-0 win over a resilient Namdhari FC in a tightly contested Group A encounter, here at the Vivekananda Yuba Bharati Krirangan.

Moroccan forward Hamid Ahadad, making his debut for the Red and Gold Brigade, came off the bench to score the decisive goal in the 68th minute, handing East Bengal their second consecutive win.

East Bengal Head Coach Oscar Bruzon made four changes to his line-up from their previous match, handing starts to goalkeeper Prabhsukhan Singh Gill, Brazilian midfielder Miguel Figueira, and Greek striker Dimitrios Diamantakos and Bipin Singh up front. Namdhari's Harpreet Singh, meanwhile, made two enforced changes, bringing in skipper Akashdeep Singh in defence and Manish Chaudhary in attack, as suspended defender Manbir Singh missed out.

The match kicked off with East Bengal taking immediate control, camping in the Namdhari half and creating chance after chance, only to be denied repeatedly by an inspired performance from Namdhari goalkeeper Niraj Kumar.

Turning it Pope's way: Oz leggie hoping to keep up good run

CHANDRA PRABHU @ Chennai

AT the 2018 U19 World Cup semifinals, a long-haired ginger Australian leg-spinner put the English batters in a tizzy. He scalped eight wickets (8/35)—a record which still stands to this date in U19 level. Cut to 2025, that same long haired, baby-faced boy is bald, and sports a thick beard. He is Lloyd Pope. He has shown that he can make life difficult for batters, as he scalped six wickets against Saurashtra here in the MRF-Pachaiyappa's ground recently.

This is part of a 12-member Australian team's visit to India, where emerging batters, wicketkeepers and spinners get to experience the pitch conditions in India. The 25-year-old leggie took pleasure in bowling in Indian conditions for the first time. "It has been a lovely challenge, against a really good team. Bowling with the SG ball for the first time, I am learning a lot here and it is nice to lead into my season back home with a nice challenge here in India," he told this daily.

He comes on the back of a good outing in the Vitality T20 blast in England, where he plays for the Northamptonshire Steerbacks. He enjoyed being part of a historic South Australia team that clinched the 2024/25 Sheffield Shield after 29 years against Queensland in the final in March this year.

Lloyd Pope scalped six wickets against Saurashtra recently | ASHWIN PRASATH

Though he played a pivotal part in leading his team to the final, Pope sat out in the final, considering the pitch conditions at the Karen Rolton Oval then. "The wicket didn't really spin a lot. Credit to our squad, we had got some very good fast bowlers. They decided to go with the fast bowlers on that day. All I wanted was that to be the right decision and we won the game," he said.

He further explained his season where South Australia won both the Shield and the One-Day Cup. "At the start of the year we said the squad's going to win the Sheffield Shield, not just the 11 players. Just to be even named in that squad, that's a huge achievement for me personally. (With regards to what he did) I tried to improve my stock ball trying to make my leg-break an effective ball to get wickets. That probably was not the easiest thing. It took quite a while for me to get to a stage where I feel like on Australian wickets that I am spinning the ball away from the bat and getting a bit of shape in the air and bounce off the wicket. That's quite a small adjustment but quite a hard one to make. I spent a lot of time doing that."

COLOUR THE SKY!

Museum of Art & Photography, Bengaluru now offers a culturally enriching experience at KIA Terminal 2

PRANAV SHRIRAM

WHEN we say art has no boundaries, it is in moments like these that such notions hold true. While museums and galleries often fall into the list of tourists' must-visit spaces, it's not often that we get to see Bengaluru bringing its sanctum of knowledge, culture and history to the fore in spaces like an airport where tourists can engage themselves artistically.

The Museum of Art & Photography (MAP) has recently launched new spaces at the T2 domestic and international terminals of Kempegowda International Airport and we paid a visit to both outlets. With these outlets present in both international and domestic terminals, MAP brings the best of South Asian culture that Bengaluru has to offer tourists and travellers.

Founder Abhishek Poddar also reflected on this interesting and engaging space for travellers within and across the country. "At MAP, we believe strongly in the transformative potential of art and how it enriches lives, sparks curiosity and connects people. With this unique partnership with BIAL (Bangalore International Airport Limited), MAP hopes to take art appreciation and awareness to a wider audience, thereby creating a new wave of interest and engagement in South Asian art and culture. Our digital assets and interventions allow visitors to engage with art in a multitude of new ways — bringing joy, experiencing, understanding and learning," he highlights.

This transit was a special one that added meaning to our overall travel experience. At the domestic terminal, the space was replete with interactive elements. Screens displayed iconic Bollywood posters. It awas an exhibition of the golden age of Hindi cinema, with hand drawn artworks of films stills and lobby cards. Artworks of Universe by SH Raza, Last Supper by Jamini Roy, The Lotus Sellers by NS Bendre and more became puzzles for us to solve as we shifted tiles that ultimately gave us the finished picture. The activity helped get a closer, more focused peek into the intricate techniques of the artworks, often using these brush strokes, colours and other elements as hints to complete the puzzle.

Art works by Bhuri Bai

Looking at all the innovative works around us, we did feel inspired. As would many other travellers, we believe. A small colouring station was the answer to this inspiration. With coloured pencils and an array of artworks, we spent our time waiting for a flight, scribbling and filling in the empty spaces between the illustrations' borders.

After moving to the international terminal, we noticed that the MAP space was bigger in area, injecting a culturally enriching value to travellers' waiting periods. Upon entering the airside, an LED screen on the ceiling can be seen bringing unique art figures to life. These, as we learnt, were from an exhibition that was being housed at the outlet in this terminal. With almost all sections similar to the domestic outlet, this one housed the exquisite artworks of padmashri Bhuri Bai. The renowned artiste, a painter, muralist and illustrator, even appears in her autobiographical works as seen in the exhibition, often reflected as a character in her paintings. One painting even shows the talented artist during her first airplane journey — a rather personal and contextual piece given the location. Bhuri Bai scripts her story in a series of such art pieces in this Bhil artform showcase titled Bhuri Bai: My Life as an Artist. Other sections also showcased her paintings from the 1980s. She made these with a variety of naturally sourced colours from her surroundings.

The advent of such an experience in a major international airport highlights a true shift in the understanding of how airports are not just centres that enable mobility. Travellers are now looking for well beyond consumerism at such spaces. Spending a few minutes in such a space seemed to encourage the very human nature of being creative within us. MAP has elequoently taken this notion and crafted a unique experience to be in with our artistic selves.

BLR airport's new sensory story

The common shared space of the airport tells many stories through various sensory channels. Kempegowda International Airport's Terminal 2, now claims a truly luxurious identity via its fragrances spread across various spots. Titled, Dancing Bamboo, this signature fragrance for the airport exudes a sense of serenity and luxury. Reflecting soothy earthy notes, this also feels like the perfect ccompaniment to the interiors of Terminal 2.

AHEAD OF VARAMAHALAKSHMI ON FRIDAY, SANDALWOOD CELEBS GET CANDID WITH CE ON THEIR FOND MEMORIES OF THE FESTIVAL, PREPARATIONS AT HOME AND WHAT THEY ARE LOOKING FORWARD TO THIS YEAR

LAKSHMI BARAMMA

ANJALI RAM

WITH Varamahalakshmi, the revered festival dedicated to Goddess Lakshmi, just around the corner, on Friday, the city is prepping up to mark the occasion with fervour and gaiety. From traditional puja rituals to gatherings with friends and family, the city's familiar faces share what the festival means to them, their favourite memories and what they are looking forward to this year.

Here's a peek into the Varamahalakshmi sentiments of Sandalwood stars as they gear up to immerse in devotion.

PRIYANKA UPENDRA, ACTOR

I started celebrating Varamahalakshmi after I got married. Usually, we have a Devi Mukhwada in silver. We keep the Bagina ready, which we give out to ladies. After the fasting, we tie a yellow sacred thread on our wrist. Later, we present 'arshana kumkum' and bangles to people who visit our house. It's basically a get-together of women. I love the tradition and culture, it brings people together and sets the mood for togetherness and brings a lot of positivity into the house. Participating in such events makes me feel good. It's also an expression of creativity – how we decorate the goddess and the house for the festival. When I visit my neighbours during the festivities, I'm keen to see how they have decorated their place and what food they have prepared. It's about finding happiness in simple things and looking forward to them. My mother-in-law and sister-in-law bring in delicacies they have prepared, and it's an amalgamation of all our things together to celebrate the festival.

SAKSHI MEGHANA, ACTOR

I started celebrating the festival 10 years ago after coming to Bengaluru. Usually, we buy a saree and gold, and do alankara (decoration) of Lakshmi Devi. When it comes to food, we prepare dishes like regular lassi, chutney, nippattu, festival milk, kosambari and mainly hobattu, since it's known to be a favourite of the goddess. I have a lot of memories associated with the festival, but one that remains closer to my heart is one of the Varamahalakshmi puja in Bengaluru, when my mother gave an advance amount to a director of a film, which is a surprise element, to be shared later. This year's Varamahalakshmi is special; I received Gowri Bagina and a Reshma saree from a fangirl and gifts from many others. It feels like a token of love.

SAMYUKTA HORNAD, ACTOR

FOR me, all festivals are linked to my Ajji. She was the one who brought the entire family together. After her passing, my uncle, aunt and all of us started celebrating all festivals together, no matter how occupied we are. When I was young, I didn't understand why we celebrated Varamahalakshmi, because it felt like it had more to do with cooking. But now, I feel that the way we look at goddesses and women in society has changed, and that I think kind of seeps into the importance of celebrating or worshipping women goddesses. The whole point of a festival like this is to show the importance of being together as a family – to be there for each other. For all festivals, we make Ambode, which is made with Bengal gram mainly – it's like masala vadae with different herbs, and that's my favourite. There are a lot of festivals to come, so I see Varamahalakshmi as one of the beginnings of the celebrations that are about to start. You're welcoming a new season, so you're welcoming new things into your life. I feel celebrating it is a way of connecting with people.

ADITHI PRABHUDEVA, ACTOR

Varamahalakshmi is not just a festival but an emotion to me. I like getting together and decorating part of the festival. What makes this year's festival is my daughter. Just like how I adorn the goddess Lakshmi, I do it with my daughter - my little Goddess – that's where it starts, right? Women are everything. She is around 16-month-old, and that makes this year's festival very special. Also, Lakshmi comes to houses where there is love and discipline. When I was a child, we had simple decor and celebrations since we were middle-class. My mother was very keen on planning and celebrating it. When it comes to festivals, food is a huge part, and she used to include me in every part of it, and that was the best feeling. I feel the same happiness and contentment even now, but the Lord has multiplied it every year.

JEEVITHA JAGDEESH, DIGITAL CREATOR

I come from a joint family with grandparents and great-grandparents, so for me, Varamahalakshmi is a piece of my childhood. I used to celebrate it with all of them. Everything I love is part of this festival – saree, jewellery, the meals that we prepare. We typically have 15-20 varieties of dishes as offerings, including both sweet and savoury. Every year, we plan and buy a pure silk saree, ready the decor and idol of Goddess Lakshmi, which involves a lot of planning, especially with my mother and grandmother. Later in the evening, we go to the neighbour's house to see their decor, it's like a healthy competition that I enjoy. This year, I am very curious to see the different decor – to see their creativity – because last year I saw how someone used banana leaves to decorate, which was a sustainable move. My favourite part of Varamahalakshmi is draping the saree for the goddess. I think my interest in dressing up stemmed from these fond experiences.

How to know if working out in the morning or evening suits my body?

There's no universal 'better' time to exercise. The best time is when you are consistent to a routine. It is more powerful than optimal timing that you can't maintain.

- Working out in the morning or evening has different benefits in terms of energy levels and recovery. Understand your body's signals. Do you feel energised in the morning or does your body 'wake up' later in the day?

ASK AN XPERT

- Your natural circadian rhythm plays a role in how effective a workout feels. If your focus is on fat loss and productivity, morning exercises are suitable. Evening sessions help with peak performance or muscle building.
- Track your performance. Try working out at different times for a week or two. Note how your body feels, your performance, and how easy it is to stick to your routine.
- Intense late night workouts may disturb your sleep. Poor sleep = poor recovery = lower results. If that is happening, then evening workouts are a big no. Shift to morning workout sessions.

MORE THAN JUST A SPEECH PROBLEM

SNEHA MAREEN VARGHESE

AS a speech-language pathologist, one of the most common phrases I hear from concerned parents is, "My child isn't speaking clearly, but it's just a speech problem, right? They'll grow out of it." Or sometimes, "They'll learn to talk once they start school." Despite the fact that these feelings are frequently motivated by optimism and comfort, they reflect a common misconception that may unintentionally delay crucial support for a child's speech and language development.

The truth is – what many call a 'speech problem' is often a language delay. Understanding this difference, and acting early, is perhaps the most significant gift you can give your child.

Speech vs Language

Speech is the physical act of producing sounds and words. It involves the coordination of our lips, tongue, jaw, and breath. Difficulties here might sound like stammering, unclear pronunciation and change in voice quality. Language is a much broader concept. It's about how we understand and use words to communicate ideas. This includes:

❶ Receptive Language: Your child's ability to understand what is spoken to them – following instructions, understanding questions, comprehending stories.

❷ Expressive Language: How your child uses words to communicate their thoughts and needs – vocabulary, putting words into sentences, narrating stories). Also, the social use of language – How your child uses language in social situations (example, engaging in a conversation making eye contact and adjusting their communication style to the listeners).

A child might have clear 'speech' but struggle with 'language' – for example, they can say words perfectly but only string two words together at three years old, or struggle to follow simple directions. Conversely, a child might have unclear speech but a rich understanding and a desire to communicate, indicating a speech sound disorder. Both need attention, but language delays often have a wider ripple effect.

The Peril of 'Wait and Watch'

In India, cultural reasons or a lack of awareness about developmental milestones often recommend the 'wait and watch' approach. Parents might be told, 'Boys talk later' or 'Someone in the family spoke late'. But for language development, waiting is rarely a beneficial strategy.

A child's brain develops at an incredible pace during the first few years of life. This period is prime time for absorbing language. Delaying intervention means missing these crucial windows of opportunity, making it harder and sometimes more intensive to catch up later.

An untreated language delay can lead to a cascade of difficulties. Frustration from not being understood can lead to behavioural issues. Difficulty communicating can lead to social isolation. Later, academic struggles also begin to occur.

Key Signs to Watch For

As an speech-language pathologist, I urge parents to trust their instincts. If something feels 'off', seek professional advice. Here are some general milestones to be aware of:

- By 12 months: Not babbling, not using gestures (like waving bye-bye or pointing), not responding to their name consistently.
- By 18 months: Not saying any single words, not pointing to show what they want, not understanding simple requests.
- By 2 years: Not combining two words together ('more milk', 'daddy go'), not following simple two-step directions, speech is very difficult for family members to understand.
- By 3 years: Not using short sentences and narrating events, speech is unclear to strangers, not understanding simple 'who', 'what', 'where' questions.
- Any age: Losing previously learned words or skills, showing extreme frustration when trying to communicate, not making eye contact or showing interest in social interaction.

If you observe these signs, or have any persistent concerns, please don't 'wait and watch'. Consult a speech-language pathologist.

What Schools Can Do

Children with language delay require support from the educational institutions through regular, professional checks for potential speech and language difficulties. Schools should seek help from qualified professionals to identify and support these children.

Supporting moms beyond feeding

As World Breastfeeding Week (August 1–7) is observed globally, experts speak about the intersection of breastfeeding and mental health

DARSHITA JAIN

FOR most new mothers, the early days can feel like a blur. While breastfeeding is often idealised as a natural bonding experience, the reality can be more complex.

As World Breastfeeding Week (August 1–7) is observed globally, experts speak about the intersection of breastfeeding and mental health, addressing postpartum depression, anxiety, and the emotional toll of nursing. "Fatigue and emotional ups and downs are common during postpartum," says Dr Pallavi Chandra Ravula, consultant obstetrician, adding, "However, when a new mother experiences a persistent low mood, difficulty functioning, or disinterest in the baby, it isn't just exhaustion – these symptoms can indicate postpartum depression."

While breastfeeding is known to release oxytocin, called the 'love hormone' which enhances bonding, it's not a universally calming experience."For some, it may trigger negative feelings," explains Dr Ravula. These emotions may stem from hormonal changes, sleep deprivation, feeding challenges, or even a lesser-known condition called Dysphoric Milk Ejection Reflex (D-MER), a temporary dip in mood during milk letdown.

Dr C Manjula Rao, consultant clinical psychologist, points out that emotional dips after childbirth are more common than many realise. "Hormonal fluctuations, physical exhaustion, and adjusting to a new life can lead to 'baby blues'," she shares.

Both experts agree: new mothers need safe, judgement-free spaces – to feel, to express, and to ask for help. "The mother should reach out to her OB-GYN or therapist as early as possible," says Dr Ravula, adding that postpartum mood disorders need timely attention.

Dr Rao explains that therapy provides a safe environment to share feelings, learn coping strategies, and receive support to manage anxiety or depression. "Even small steps like taking breaks, asking for help, practising breathing exercises, or focusing on tiny wins can help ease emotional strain," she says. If breastfeeding starts affecting a mother's mental health, both doctors stress that it's okay to reconsider.

"Switching to baby formula or opting for mixed feedings is a valid and healthy choice," says Dr Pallavi, adding, "There's no shame in choosing what's best for the mother's well-being."

RAJ B SHETTY
REINVENTS YET AGAIN IN KARAVALI, THE ARRIVAL OF MAVEERA

Raj brings not just performance but his vision, says director Gurudatha Ganiga on casting the filmmaker-actor in Karavali, which stars Prajwal Devaraj in the lead

A SHARADHAA

FRESH off his riveting turn as Karunakar Guruji in the latest blockbuster Su from So, Raj B Shetty is back, and this time, in a raw, visceral avatar. The actor-filmmaker, who also produced Su from So, joins forces with director Gurudatha Ganiga for Karavali, a film set against the coastal canvas of Karnataka.

Headlined by Prajwal Devaraj, Karavali casts Raj B Shetty in a pivotal role named Maveera. His entry into the project has significantly amplified the buzz, especially after the release of the poster that introduced his character in a striking fashion— flanked by two buffaloes, whip in hand, eyes fierce with intent.

Director Gurudatha Ganiga describes the character of Maaveera as a soul born from the soil. "When we started writing the film, we had no idea who would play Maveera. After releasing the first teaser, the response was overwhelming, especially from the people of South Canara, who understand the essence of Kambala and the spirit behind this ten-second sport."

Gurudatha Ganiga admits the casting process wasn't easy. "We tried several actors. They liked the character, but something didn't click. Since the film is rooted in coastal rituals, we wanted someone who truly understood the cultural weight of the role."

That's when Raj B Shetty entered the conversation. "I met Raj and narrated the story. But he was caught up with several commitments, including Su from So. I didn't give up. After five meetings, he said, 'If you don't mind, can I watch some portions you've shot?' I agreed, and once he saw the footage, he said yes."

What followed was complete immersion. Raj didn't just play Maveera — he lived him. "He spent 15 days learning the process, interacting with buffaloes, and understanding the world of Kambala. He studied posture, language, and the rhythm. It wasn't about acting, it was about becoming the character," says Gurudatha Ganiga.

The film's poster, tagged "Arrival of Maveera," captures this transformation. With a flame torch in hand and a mud-streaked aura, Raj's look has stirred curiosity. "Is he a Kambala racer? Or a symbolic guardian of tradition?" fans are curious.

Gurudatha Ganiga notes, "Raj brings not just performance but vision. As a filmmaker himself, he sees cinema in every frame, which makes his presence even more valuable."

Shot extensively in coastal Karnataka, Karavali explores themes of survival, loyalty, and the primal conflict between man and beast. "The tagline 'Animal vs Human' isn't just dramatic, it reflects the emotional and cultural stakes of the film," adds the director.

Apart from Prajwal Devaraj and Raj B Shetty, the film features Mitra in a crucial role, along with Ramesh Indira in an intense character. Sampada plays the female lead. The project is backed by VK Film Association and Ganiga Films, with music by Sachin Basrur and visuals captured by Abhimanyu Sadanandan.

With patchwork and dubbing in the final stages, Karavali is expected to release later this year.

KRG Studios and Zee5 back Kannada web series Shodha, starring Pawan Kumar in the lead

A SHARADHAA

KRG Studios, lead by Karthik Gowda and Yogi G Raj, is expanding its storytelling canvas with Shodha, a Kannada suspense thriller web series that will stream exclusively on Zee5 from August 22. The series marks KRG's foray into the web space after a successful run in film production and distribution.

Directed by Orchestra...filmmaker Sunil Mysuru and produced under the KRG Studios banner, Shodha features acclaimed director-turned-actor Pawan Kumar in the lead. Known for cult hits like Lucia, Manasaare, and Lifeu Ishtene, Pawan not only headlines the series but also serves as a script doctor, enhancing its psychological depth.

"Shodha is a thriller, designed as a series of mini-episodes," says Karthik Gowda. "Kannada audiences have long awaited quality web content. With Ayyana Mane doing well on Zee5, we wanted to continue that momentum. Zee has lined up 8 to 10 Kannada web originals — and Shodha is among the first to drop."

The series is penned by Suhas Navarathna, who has been part of Suman Kumar's writing team for The Family Man Season 2 and is currently working on The Family Man Season 3. Karthik adds, "Suhas brought in tight writing and a modern pace. Pawan's involvement elevated the material further. The story, the setting, and its emotional beats all align well with today's digital audiences."

Pawan Kumar admits he didn't expect to debut as an actor in a web series, especially in Kannada. "I always thought I'd direct one first," he says. "But when Sunil narrated the one-liner in March, it instantly connected. It had depth, and a thriller set-up I enjoy. Also, when people say Kannada lacks a strong web presence, I wanted to be part of that shift."

He continues, "Cinema has limitations in how much we can explore character. With web series, we can go deeper. Shodha gave me space as an actor, and being part of a collaborative team where I could contribute to the script was creatively satisfying."

Shodha also brings strong technical credits. Music is composed by Arjun Ramu (Huliraaya, Bachelor Party), and cinematography is handled by Rahul Roy (Tagaru Palya, Daredevil Mustafa).

Zee5, which has been gradually building a Kannada web series lineup, is now banking on Shodha to sustain its regional content momentum. "We're seeing a clear shift in viewer interest. If we deliver consistently strong stories, the audience is ready," says Karthik Gowda.

The six-episode series directed by Sunil Mysuru is set to premiere on August 22, exclusively on Zee5

Shine Shetty gears up for a new film with Mithya director Sumanth Bhat

CE FEATURES

SHINE Shetty, who rose to fame through his stint in television, has gradually made a steady transition to the big screen. From being a household name on the small screen to becoming a Bigg Boss Kannada winner(2020), Shine Shetty has come a long way. The actor, who played a notable role in Kantara, among other films, is now eagerly waiting for the release of director Bobby CR's Just Married. Starring Shine in the lead, the film is set to hit theatres on August 22. This will be followed by Nidradevi Next Door, the directorial debut of Suraag Sagar, which will be released on September 12.

As he awaits these releases, Shine Shetty is also in talks with director Sumanth Bhat of Mithya fame for a new project. The duo had earlier collaborated on Ekam, and this upcoming venture marks their second film together. According to Shine, the project is still in its early stages but shows great promise.

"We've been in discussions for a while. The project is in its initial stage, and we've finalised the script," he shares.

Speaking about his collaboration with Sumanth, Shine says, "I watched Mithya, and having already worked with him on Ekam, I liked his style of filmmaking. As actors, we often look to collaborate with certain directors, and after watching Mithya, I was keen to work with him again. Thankfully, the interest was mutual. We both wanted to team up again."

While Mithya was a class act from Sumanth Bhat, the genre of their next film is still under wraps. "It's too early to reveal the genre. But Sumanth is also trying to break away from the style of storytelling he is known for. We've been working on this for a long time, and once I finish my current commitments, we plan to take the next step," he concludes.

The actor is currently looking forward to the release of his next film, Just Married, followed by Nidradevi Next Door

"Film is a powerful tool," he said at the event. "Stories with meaningful messages benefit both audiences and the industry."

Team Aparichite

Geetapriya plays a schoolteacher in the film. "I gravitate toward roles that speak to society," she said. "Aparichite does just that. Shooting begins tomorrow, and I'm glad the entire production will take place in Karnataka."
